WOMEN DELEGATES USE UMBRELLAS ON MEN IN A FIGHT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 15.—Women delegates struck men delegates over their heads and shoulders with umbrellas while the masculine delegates fought among themselves at the opening session of the national convention of the Yeomen of America yesterday.

The trouble started at the outset of the meeting. It is charged that an attempt was made to seat delegates who said they represent lodges in Illinois and other States in which charters have not yet been issued. The excitement was intense for a time, but order was restored before anyone was seriously hurt.

SAN JOSE, Sept. 15. — Halley's comet, which makes its appearance about the sun once in every seventy-five years, has been rediscovered by D. Curtis and photographed with the aid of the Crossley reflecting telescope at Lick Observatory, Mount Hamilton.

The comet was first rediscovered by Professor Wolff at Heidelberg but at present can be seen only with the most powerful instruments. It will now grow rapidly brighter, according to Director W. W. Campbell of Lick.

TAFT BEGINS 13,000 MILE TOUR OF NATION

Well Tanned and in Good Voice After His Vacation of Forty Days

SPEAKS FROM CAR PLATFORM AT STATION

Strenuous Afternoon and Night to Be Passed in Chicago Tomorrow

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—President Taft left Boston today at 10:03 a. m. His train formed the second section of the regular express train from Boston to Albany over the Boston and Albany division of the New York Central Railroad.

The President had as guests at breakfast Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts, and Former Secretary of the Treasury George B. Cortelyou. Taft was joined at the hotel by his aunt, Miss Delia Torrey of Millbury, Mass., who accompanied him as far as Worcester, and by William Nelson Cromwell who went as far as Albany.

PRIVATE CAR AWAITS.

The President found his private car Mayflower awaiting him at the South Station, while ahead of it was the auxiliary car Hazelmere, which takes the newspaper correspondents.

In addition there were the private car of General Manager J. H. Hustis of the Boston and Albany division, who takes charge of the party as far as Albany, and a regular coach.

The President was in a joyful mood as the train started and waved a happy goodbye to his vacation in the Old Bay State.

ON 13,000 MILE TOUR.

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—Well tanned by more than five weeks on the golf links and invigorated by the salt sea breezes of Massachusetts Bay, President Taft closed his 40-day vacation today and in excellent voice started on his 13,000 mile swing around the country. The President is looking forward to a delightful two months in which he will meet thousands of people and proclaim the purposes of the new administration.

The President began his speechmaking tour last night at the banquet of the Chamber of Commerce of Boston. He will resume in Chicago.

HUGHES TO MEET TAFT.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Gov. Hughes probably will greet President Taft upon his arrival here at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon. The governor has planned to take the 4 o'clock train for Syracuse, where he will speak at the State Fair tomorrow. He expects to be at the station when the President's train rolls in.

Chief W. A. Humphrey of the New York Central detective force and two other detectives will accompany the presidential party as far as Buffalo.

STRENUOUS NIGHT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—A strenuous inaugural of President Taft's long speechmaking trip has been arranged here for tomorrow. From the moment he steps from the train at 11:15 a. m. until midnight, when he retires to his private car, every minute will be turned to account.

For an hour and a half an automobile will carry him slowly through a gauntlet of 150,000 public and parochial school pupils lining miles of boulevards and carrying small American flags. Minute precautions have been arranged for the protection of the children as well as of the president. The review of the pupils will terminate at the Congress Hotel, where the president will make an informal address to his host, the Commercial Club.

TO SEE BALL GAME.

During the afternoon the president will witness a baseball game between the New York and Chicago Clubs of the National League.

He will be at the Hamilton Club at an informal dinner, after which he will address a mass meeting at Orchestra Hall. At 11 p. m., he will attend the ball of the American Bankers Association, and at midnight will be escorted to his train, which will leave for Milwaukee three hours later.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—President Taft sent yesterday the following congratulatory telegram to President Diaz on his 79th birthday:

"I beg to express my cordial congratulations upon your birthday, and I hope that you will live to enjoy many and that your country may have the benefit of your patriotic services for many years to come."

5000 SEE TAFT.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 15.—President Taft, on a special, arrived here at 12:37 p. m. and left five minutes later for Pittsfield, Mass. A crowd of about 5000 persons was gathered at the station and the President briefly addressed the throng from the rear platform of his car.

VAST TRACTS OF TIMBER FALL PREY TO FIRE

Oil Wells Set Aflame and Many Buildings Are Burned Down

FORT BRAGG CUT OFF FROM INTERIOR TOWNS

Laytonville's Population is Out Fighting to Check Spread of Blaze

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 15.—The brush fires which have been burning in the mountains near Escondido the past three days, broke out afresh today, and have destroyed a portion of the wooden flume which supplies Escondido with water, leaving the city with a supply hardly sufficient to last forty-eight hours. The flames have now advanced to within three miles of the city and are burning fiercely.

UKIAH, Sept. 15. — Forest fires are spreading through the hills in the vicinity of Ukiah, but while the valley is filled with smoke and the heat of the flames occasions discomfort, there is no probability of great damage. At Laytonville the fire is dangerously close to the margin of the valley and the entire population is engaged in an attempt to check the flames.

Fire along the point at Fort Bragg has cut Ukiah off from communication with the coast. Bridges and large areas of timber have been burned in these regions. The Point Arena fire has burned over several ranches. The Fort Bragg and Southeastern railway to Irmulco is temporarily out of commission because of burned bridges.

There was no wind last night or today.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE.

OXNARD, Cal., Sept. 15.—Fires in the hills between Somis and Moor Park burned steadily all night and did thousands of dollars' worth of damage. Today east winds are whipping the fires back again and the fire fighters are exhausted in trying to save their crops. The entire pasture land has been swept clean and the fire today is threatening Moor Park.

On the north side of the range the hills have been swept clean from Willies on the east to Santa Paula and nearly to Saticoy.

OIL WELLS ON FIRE.

Many buildings have been destroyed and several oil wells are reported burned at Barddale. It is the worst fire in the history of this line of hills. The changing wind that starts it afresh every few hours is responsible for the widespread damage. Unless the fire is stopped in the Little Somi hills dozens of ranches will be swept clean by tonight.

FLAMES EXTINGUISHED.

LOS ANGELES—The forest fire on Mt. Pacifico and in the Puente hills was extinguished last night by the forest rangers. A small fire is reported today in the vicinity of Rincon, in the Sierra Madre range.

FOUR FIRES.

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 15.—Oppressive heat and a dense cloud of smoke drifting from the mountains to the seashore mark the progress of fires in four different localities of the Santa Cruz mountains today. At the head of Pescadero creek, near the sawmill of White & De Hart, one blaze in the timber has devastated many acres back of Watsonville. It is reported to have made rapid progress for a day and a night, but is now believed to be under control. The burned area extends from the Loma Prieta side of the valley in the direction of Gilroy. A large force of fire fighters opposed the flames when they threatened to spread toward Watsonville, where the heat menaced the apple crop.

Although timber is burning north of the Redwood Park in the Big Basin, a report today says the State preserve is in no danger.

Fires are burning at the head of Corralitos creek, at the head of Soquel creek and in the region between Wrights Station and the Guadaloupe quicksilver mines. The loss in timber is heavy, but the mountain ranches have thus far escaped destruction.

FIRES NEARLY OUT.

SANTA ROSA, Sept. 15.—The forest fires which have been sweeping over several sections of Sonoma County, have abated, and though they are still burning in the hills, no great damage is being done, except to pastures and small timber.

SENATOR CHARLES BELSHAW of Antioch, Who was Injured in An Automobile Accident at Ventura.

LEFT ARM IS BROKEN AND HIS BODY BRUISED

Two Machines Collide and Occupants Are Thrown to Ground

NEAR DEATH WHILE VISITING IN VENTURA

Has Close Call But Injuries Are Not Serious Say Doctors

VENTURA, Sept. 15.—State Senator Charles Belshaw of Antioch was injured in an automobile accident here today. His left arm was broken and he was badly bruised about the body. Mr. Belshaw had arrived from Los Angeles on the morning train and was being taken up town by Court Reporter Moss in the latter's automobile, when it collided with another machine.

Coming down Main street at a rapid speed their automobile ran into the machine of Dr. T. E. Cunnane, throwing the occupants of both machines out. The Moss machine was wrecked.

Dr. Cunnane was not injured and was able to attend the injuries of Mr. Belshaw, who is now at the Hotel Rose.

His injuries are not such as will confine him to bed, and he will go north on the night train.

Tries to Climb Fire Escape to Enter His Room, Falls and Cracks Skull

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—The police investigation of the so-called mysterious shooting of Judd Irwin, son of Mrs. Frederick L. Gashwiler, at the Gashwiler apartments, 460 Ellis street, has brought to light all the details of the occurrence and has revealed the fact that the young society man is suffering, not from a gunshot wound, but from a broken head.

It was on September 9th that Irwin, returning home late at night, determined not to go through the hallway of the apartment house, but to climb the fire-escape. He had gone up quite a distance when his hold slipped, and he dropped to the pavement with a cry of pain.

He was found by several of the guests and sent to the Hahnemann Hospital, where he is slowly recovering.

Detective Thomas Murphy learned the above facts and interviewed the patient himself as he lay on his cot at the hospital this morning. His sister corroborates this version of the affair in every detail and laughs at the story of her brother having been taken for a burglar and made a target for a bullet.

Swinging Little Daughter by Heels Causes Wife to Sue for a Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Because he insisted upon swinging his two and a half year old daughter by the heels with her head to the floor, to the great annoyance of his wife, Mrs. Jessie G. Brooks began suit for divorce against Rieve G. Brooks this morning.

The couple formerly resided at 1839 Delaware street, Berkeley, where they own property. Several other cruel actions said to have been brought on by the husband are cited in the complaint.

Less than a month of wedded bliss was enough for a second marriage, according to Mrs. Mary E. Walsh, who began suit for divorce against Robert Walsh today. The couple were married August 16, this year, and the husband's treatment and disregard of Mrs. Walsh's 16-year-old daughter was the chief cause for the cruelty which she avers she received.

Arrested for Elopement, Youth Claims He Was Kidnaped by Woman Companion

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—B. C. Frick, who says he was formerly a lieutenant in the German navy, and Miss Nellie Evans, a pretty English girl, are in custody here today after an alleged elopement from San Diego. Frick said he had been kidnaped by the young woman, but expressed his willingness to wed her.

Miss Evans, however, replied that before becoming his bride she wanted to know whether he wished to marry for love or simply to get out of jail.

"If he loves me," she said, "I'll marry him, but if he simply figues on that as a means of getting out of trouble, I won't."

The police arranged an interview today so the girl may decide whether their romance shall culminate in court or church.

Frick formerly was tutor in the family of E. W. Scripps in San Diego, where he has wealthy relatives.

Portland Flouring Mills Plant Burns And Company's Dock Being Destroyed

PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 15.—The plant of the Portland Flouring Mills Company is burning. The plant, which is one of the largest on the Pacific Coast, will be totally destroyed. This company exports large quantities of flour to the Orient.

It is expected the financial loss will approximate between $350,000 and $400,000. The fire was caused by the explosion of a dust collector on the sixth floor of the mill. The warehouse and the elevator will be saved.

About one-half the loss is covered by insurance. During the course of the fire two firemen and a Japanese spectator were slightly injured.

Policeman Engages in Life and Death Struggle With a Would-Be Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Engaged in a life and death struggle today with Policeman J. C. Curley, who tried to prevent his committing suicide under the wheels of a train, Thomas Reynolds, a laborer, who is supposed to be insane, finally succeeded in hurling both himself and Curley on the tracks just as the rear car had passed. The attempt occurred in the Southern Pacific yards at Seventeenth and Harrison streets. Reynolds was overpowered by railroad employes, who went to the policeman's assistance.

BANQUET TENDERED TO GRADUATES IN MEDICINE

Several Prominent Citizens and Young Doctors Are Guests of Oakland College Faculty.

The annual banquet to the students of the graduating class of the Oakland College of Medicine and Surgery was tendered at the Forum Cafe by the members of the faculty last night, when some twenty guests, including a number of prominent business and professional men of this city, enjoyed the hospitality of the physicians' board, which counts among its members some of the foremost medical authorities on this coast. Dr. Hayward G. Thomas, president of the college presided and the dinner hour was given over to short discussions on the circumstances and conditions governing the progress of the science of medicine and surgery during late years.

Dr. Creighton Wellman, the specialist, who occupies the chair of tropical medicine at the college, having accepted it after years of study and research in the lowlands of the Far East, talked on "Tropical Diseases" touching on the intimate relations now existing between the Pacific Coast and the tropical and semi-tropical countries.

MENACE TO COAST.

"And relations still more intimate are bound to spring out of the opening of the Panama Canal," he said. "This is so evident as to render unnecessary any special arguments concerning the necessity of the study of tropical diseases and particularly those in this western country. Not only is it important that men should have every means of gaining training in this branch in order that they may meet the health problems confronting the natives and the white man who enters the tropics, but tropical diseases are fast becoming a menace to the white man in his own country, as for instance the growing danger of white plague and malaria in this part of the world.

"The Pacific Coast has not only frequent opportunity to see cases of acute and chronic tropical disease that have been imported into the United States, but several exist endemically here, and unless properly handled by trained men, threaten danger, not only to the communities in which they now exist, but to the United States in general.

NEED LONG FELT.

"The faculty of the Oakland College of Medicine has long felt the need of establishing a department of tropical medicine which would offer to its students an adequate training in this important subject. The opportunity to satisfy this need has just been rendered possible through the generous monetary bequests to the college of a number of its friends and from now on we hope to make our work along this line noteworthy in the annals of medical science."

ADVANTAGE TO CITY.

H. C. Capwell spoke on the advantage such an institution as the medical college is to a city of this size, and set forth in graphic terms benefits to be derived by sending out from this community men who, after thorough training here in our midst, take their places in the world at the head of scientific research, and the great struggle for the nation's physical welfare.

Charles E. Snook complimented the faculty of the school on the wonderful progress of the past few years, and of progress of past few years, speaking of opening of college nine years ago, and of of the men who were prominent in its affairs at that time.

FREE CLINIC.

The work of the free clinic and the co-operation in the work by the more progressive pharmacists was the subject of R. A. Leet's brief talk. He stated that during the past year between 1500 and 2000 needy patients have been treated at the college.

I. Harrison Clay, president of the Chamber of Commerce, told of Oakland's appreciation of the high standard maintained by the college, and argued for the support of every citizen in behalf of the institution.

"We are proud of the University of California, and of our school system, which is one of the finest in the world," declared Clay, "and among our institutions of learning there is none, I believe, which is destined to greater or more general good than the Oakland College of Medicine. The fact that it bears the name of our city is added cause for satisfaction."

FOUNDED IN 1900.

The Oakland College of Medicine and Surgery was founded on its present site, Thirty-first and Grove streets, in 1900 under the State laws governing the establishment of educational and benevolent institutions. It is not, and never has been a stock company, and the articles of incorporation which have been closely adhered to, specify that the income of the school shall be used only for its running expenses, and for such additions from time to time as advances in medical science and teaching render desirable.

The prime advantage of such a plan is obvious. The Faculty's offer abundant facilities for clinical teaching purposes, the students being accorded to these classes following the first two years of the foundation work given in the curriculum.

PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE.

In these they are given opportunity to take an intimate interest in the patient under the supervision of members of the faculty, that when ready for graduation they have diagnosed and treated medically many patients, have attended a goodly number of confinements, have administered general anesthetics, have made not only surgical dressings, but performed minor surgical operations.

The faculty of this college feels that medicine would make faster progress if the latter were made less of a business, the products of individual schools than of men. As among Western medical colleges it stands conspicuously in a more than one school for such medical education, the Oakland College of Medicine has tried to help the cause of liberal medical education by having that work is taught by men not connected with the college. The subjects appear before the students of this college in special courses, lectures and laboratory courses. For the coming year a number of such courses have already been secured which give special courses, in both the preclinical and the clinical subjects of the curriculum, and in order that the facilities of the college may be of as great use as possible to the profession and the public, the faculty places them at the disposal of any qualified worker in medicine or research.

'ALWAYS BROUGHT BACK THE COON'

Cook's Cousin Says That if He Found Pole, "It's Just Like Him"

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 15.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook has two cousins residing here, Drs. H. Lewis Pindler and Hiram E. Pentler. They are brothers, and were born and reared with Cook in Calicoon, N. Y., and were his companions in childhood. More than a year ago they gave him up for lost.

If Frederick Cook has discovered the North Pole it is just like him," said Dr. H. Lewis Pentler today. "In his childhood there was no boy in the neighborhood like him. He was the leader in all their sports and adventures. There was nothing he undertook that he did not accomplish. At the same time there was nothing flamboyant about him. He went coon hunting by himself, but he always brought back the coon. He went to the North Pole alone, and I have no doubt that he discovered it."

PROF. RUGH TO SPEAK TO Y. W. C. A. CLASSES

The Y. M. C. A. classes will hold an educational rally at the administration building, corner Castro and Fourteenth streets, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. A musical program will be provided by Mrs. Florence Legge Mills. Prof. C. E. Rugh of the State University will deliver an address.

The official personnel of the Southern Pacific Company is causing no end of speculation among the "higher-ups" in railroad circles since the death of E. H. Harriman last week, and if the rumors from New York to the effect that E. E. Calvin, vice-president and general manager of the Southern Pacific Company, is to be promoted can be relied on, a number of other important changes will inevitably follow.

Should Calvin be called East it is believed that W. R. Scott, assistant general manager, will be named to fill the vacancy. Scott is one of the oldest employes of the Southern Pacific, having risen to his present position from the ranks of the trainmen. He is immensely popular, and is regarded as one of the most efficient men in the west.

PROBABLE CHANGES.

Should Scott succeed Calvin, it is generally thought that J. H. Young, the present general superintendent, will become assistant general manager. There is some doubt as to the probable selection of Young's successor, it being suggested that the position of general superintendent will fall either to W. A. McGovern, superintendent of the coast division, or to H. V. Platt, superintendent of the Southern division. Both men are held in high regard by the company. R. H. Ingram, general superintendent at Los Angeles, has also been mentioned as a possible successor to Young.

PRESBYTERY HAS CHOSEN CURRY AS MODERATOR

The Presbytery of Oakland met in Grace Presbyterian Church, South Berkeley, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, and was opened with a sermon by the retiring moderator, Rev. H. W. Harbaugh on the theme, "The Unnamed Disciple."

Rev. W. H. Reidy was in the afternoon named to take charge of the San Joaquin Presbytery. The pastoral relation between Rev. J. N. The standing rules of the Presbytery were revised, and as revised adopted.

The Presbytery adjourned Tuesday evening to meet in the First Church of Oakland on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"LURE OF THE DESERT" IS NILE CLUB DRAMA

Preparations are being actively pursued by the Nile Club for the presentation of its annual spectacular drama in the beautiful eucalyptus amphitheater at Piedmont Springs on October 5.

"The Lure of the Desert" is the title of this year's program. It was written by Joseph Noel and the libretto is by Elmer Sticklen. Music and words are in perfect harmony throughout and the rehearsals prove that "The Lure of the Desert" possesses a soul as well as a body.

Among the principal characters are those impersonated by Carl Anderson, Henry L. Perry, Ralph Phelps, Willard Barton, Rossiter Mikel, Harold Baxter and others.

Last year the success of the Nile Club's night at the eucalyptus amphitheater was of such pronounced merit that after it was given its initial presentation to members and friends there was a general demand that it be produced for the enjoyment of the general public. This was complied with and naturally has led to a desire on the part of the public to get a chance to appreciate "The Lure of the Desert." The club has not yet reached any determination in the matter.

The committee in charge of the affair is composed of Fred Sherman, Dr. H. P. Carlton, Ben F. Woolner, A. S. Lavenson and James Pilling.

GIRL INNOCENT VICTIM TO FIGHT WITH POLICE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 15.—Miss Rose Stewart, aged 26, a waitress at the Cedercroft Hotel, was the innocent victim last night of the warfare between the local police and the squad of detectives brought here from Newark by Prosecutor Goldenberg to aid him in wiping out dens of various types.

A bullet from a detective's revolver, fired over the heads of a wildly excited mob which had chased the detectives from the tenderloin district to their hotel on South Carolina avenue, penetrated the young woman's back as she sat on the second-story porch of the Cedercroft Hotel. It is feared that she will die.

Constipation and Its Causes

A Well Known Remedy.

Constipation is man's worst enemy and half the health ills are a result thereof. Nature meant that the bowels should be kept open, that we should have a free movement once a day. When we find our bowels do not move, we resort to powerful remedies which are so drastic in their action that they damage the tender lining of the bowels and leave a worse condition than before. Why take such injurious and expensive drugs when we can obtain from any druggist much cheaper a bottle of Nature's own remedy, HUNYADI JANOS Water, the famous Natural laxative? This water is bottled at the springs in Hungary and in use nearly half a century. One half a tumblerful, on arising will bring within an hour a refreshing movement, gentle, natural and thorough, without any griping or other bad effects. As a whole little costs but a trifle, keep one always on hand.

Look out for unscrupulous druggists, who will substitute unless you ask for HUNYADI JANOS.

EDOFF REPORTS ON RECEIVERSHIP

55 Per Cent of Liabilities of California Bank Paid to Date

According to the report of Receiver James P. Edoff of the California Bank, covering the transactions of the receivership of the month of August, just filed in the Superior Court, 55 per cent of the total liabilities of the defunct concern had been paid up to the first day of the current month. The cash on hand and in bank on the last day of July was $7218.93, and the receipts from all sources during August increased that amount to $16,469.39. After deducting the expenses of the receivership for the month the cash on hand at the end of August amounted to $13,708.29.

The value of the assets on July 31 was $492,802.61 as against $493,322.98 on the last day of August. The deposits on the last day of July amounted to $422,348.59 and on the last day of August to $422,265.44.

During the month of August the loans were reduced in the net amount of $16,226.98, of which sum $7704.29 were charged to profit and loss and $8522.69 collected in cash.

EXCESS OF INCOME.

The net excess of income over operating expense from the beginning of the receivership to the first day of the current month is $21,542.46. The net reduction of liability to creditors, as reported in the July account, was $632,467.26, making the net reduction of liabilities on the last day of August $632,759.41.

At the time Receiver Edoff took charge of the bank there were among the assets two agreements for sale of real estate between the bank as assignee of D. Edward Collins and Tessie L. Shipman, a widow, for the purchase by her of certain real estate in Emeryville. The bank holds title to this property by deed absolute. Mrs. Shipman has paid $1137 on the contracts and offers to pay $525 more for deeds to the property. The receiver recommends that the court authorize him to close the deal on that basis.

SUBMITS OFFERS.

In December, 1907, the Barber Asphalt Paving Company did certain curbing and grading near to and adjoining the property of D. Edward Collins on the Kennedy tract, which had been previously deeded to the bank by Collins as security for money loaned. The claim for this work now amounts to about $633 and the receiver asks the court to authorize him to settle with the Barber people for $500, which compromise they have agreed to accept.

At the beginning of the receivership there was among the assets of the bank the unsecured note of E. E. Baker for $500, dated September 30, 1907. On May 15, 1908, the court approved an offset from the commercial deposit account of Baker to this debt, which left the balance due $318.19. The receiver made repeated but ineffectual efforts to enforce payment of this balance and he finally agreed to settle at 50 per cent, subject to the approval of the court. Baker has now completed payment of $159 as the amount of the compromise and the receiver recommends that the settlement be approved.

LADS HUNT GHOSTS: BOOKED FOR BURGLARY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Ghosts had no terrors for Fred Kinsley, Charles Brun, Frank Bean, Richard Wagner and Tyrrell, small boys living way out near the ocean who heard that the residence of an old miner, deserted for some time, was haunted. They determined to investigate, and, breaking in a panel of the door, secreted themselves in the cabin, and waited for the mysterious noises and gruesome cries which other boys had told them were a part of the daily happenings in the place.

They failed to discover the mysterious secrets of the spot, and after they had left, Mrs. Stella McIlvain of 1538 Fortieth street, told the police that burglars had broken in, and the five lads were later taken into custody and booked at the detention home.

DAUGHTER FIGHTS TO BREAK WILL

Starts Contest for Share in Estate of Late W. J. Barry

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—A contest was begun today looking to the breaking of the will of the late William J. Barry, a local drayman who died early in August after being run over by a team.

Mrs. Nellie Sl ttery, in behalf of Helen Barry, the minor daughter of the deceased, in her contest, declares that the brothers and sisters of Barry got around him while he lay dying in a hospital and caused him to leave a great deal of his property to them.

The estate has not yet been appraised but it is worth approximately $25,000. His half of the teaming business Barry left to his brother John, and a valuable mortgage to all of his brothers and sisters equally. The daughter received a lot in South San Francisco and a sum of money in deposit at an Oakland bank.

Andrew Sotiero, a restaurant keeper at 809 Broadway, states that his water was shut off because he refused to pay a meter bill of $12.85 instead of a flat rate of $[illegible].

Charles L. Colvin, an attorney who owns a cottage in East Oakland which has been unoccupied for some time, complained that he was paying a flat rate of $1.[illegible] that despite the fact that no water was used the company charged a minimum rate of $1.[illegible].

ORDINANCE IS PASSED

A resolution establishing water rates for the year beginning July 1, 19[illegible], passed the City Council fixes the meter rates as follows:

W. J. DINGEE HAS BIG NITRE CLAIMS

Rich Deposit is Located in San Bernardino County

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—That San Bernardino county, Cal., contains enormous nitre beds which promise to surpass the famous Chilean deposits was announced today by William J. Dingee, former California millionaire, who has located claims aggregating 16,000 acres in the district. The deposit which Dingee asserts is fabulously rich is located near Johannesburg on the Mohave desert.

Dingee stated that his claims were located after his interest had been secured by A. [illegible] Mining experts were sent to Johannesburg to investigate and their reports were so favorable that negotiations are said to have been entered into with the Southern Pacific for the construction of a branch line into the [illegible] district in which the claims are located. According to Dingee, samples of the deposits were analyzed by P. D. [illegible] of San Francisco, who reported that they contained from 2 to 28 per cent pure nitre. Dingee is said to have interested several New York financiers in the development of the claims.

MADMAN GIVES CHASE WITH RAZOR

With His Throat Cut, Maniac Terrorizes Wife and Entire Neighborhood

FINALLY CAPTURED BY AID OF THE POLICE

Second Attempt of William Jones to Create Havoc Ends Disastrously

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—After terrorizing a whole neighborhood and frightening his wife and two children until they were forced to take refuge in an upper room William Jones was captured after a sharp struggle by Special Officer Carter and stewards from the Mission emergency hospital at an early hour this morning.

This is the second time within three months that Jones has battled with the hospital authorities and Stewards Simpson and Wilmarth of the Central emergency hospital still bears marks of their last tussle with the men after he had escaped from his cell and was running wild in Jefferson Square Park.

HAD CUT THROAT

A hurry call for the ambulance sent the stewards of the Mission emergency to Eighteenth and San Bruno avenue shortly before 1 a. m. They found the neighborhood alive with people and Jones' wife and two children hiding in a room in his house. The man himself who had been chasing neighbors around with a razor, had slashed his throat from ear to ear and with the blood gushing, was still brandishing the weapon.

With a great deal of difficulty Special Officer Carter and the hospital attaches subdued him and at the Mission emergency hospital it was found necessary to use a hundred stitches to sew up his throat.

ESCAPED TO PARK.

On June 9 Jones was taken to the detention hospital on a charge of insanity and kept for six days. During the temporary absence of an attendant he broke from his cell and ran entirely devoid of clothes out of the building and into Jefferson Park. Stewards Wilmarth and Simpson pursued him and both were wounded in the fight to overcome the maniac.

He was later committed to Stockton Insane Asylum but through the influence of his wife was recently released. It is probable that he will be immediately returned.

SPRECKELS AND SWEENEY RESIGN

Bolters in Good Government Camp, Leland and Dolan, the Cause

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15. — The first deserters from the Good Government League are John W. Sweeney and Rudolph Spreckels. Both sent in their resignations yesterday, the former by [illegible] in person and the latter by mail. Sweeney declared that he would have nothing to do with Good Government that had been captured by McNab. Spreckels was dissatisfied with the personnel of the ticket which the executive committee has selected as perfect.

The particular candidates who caused the bolting of the two persons from an organization in which they played a conspicuous part and held on account [illegible] among the elect that made it its business to sell party tickets and deal which candidates are to be approved or representing good government are Leland and Larry Dolan. Because Leland, who has ambitions of being mayor, and Dolan, who will be sheriff for another term, were accepted by a majority of the executive committee and their names had been placed on its petition ticket together with that of F. J. Heney, a candidate for district attorney, Sweeney and Spreckels refused to be affiliated with the league any longer.

Many side lights have been thrown upon their action by others prominently connected with the organization. Isidor Jacobs, Milton L. Pen[illegible] and Secretary Anderson say that Spreckels wants a [illegible] man nominated for mayor and this the league refused to do, declaring that such a course would result in the certain election of P. H. McCarthy.

Dolan was objected to, it is claimed, because Detective Burns could not trust him to get the right kind of jurors. There seems to be confusion however on the real motives which impelled the resignations, as it is understood that the names of Leland and Dolan were suggested to the league by Hiram Johnson and William H. Langdon.

Rudolph Spreckels today issued a statement in which he said that he has quit the Good Government League in the local political fight because it endorsed Coroner Leland for Mayor and Sheriff Dolan for re-election. He said:

"I have quit the Good Government League because I for one did not want to be held responsible for what Leland or Dolan may do in the event of their election. By endorsing Leland and Dolan the Good Government League had made itself responsible for McNab's men. I could not stay with the League and have people come to me six months or a year from now and say 'See what you have given us.' The people naturally expect that candidates put up by the Good Government League shall be men with clean records—men who have never affiliated with or been subservient to boss rule.

McNAB MEN, HE SAYS

"Leland and Dolan are McNab men pure and simple. McNab is the Herrin of the Democratic party. It's an old game worked in every big city in the country: the corporations and moneyed interests have control of both parties. It makes little difference to Calhoun and the Southern Pacific Railway whether Herrin or McNab rule—the rule of municipal government is [illegible] in the same hands.

"The members of the executive committee know that I opposed Leland and Dolan from the start and that I advised the leaving of their places blank rather than burdening the League with the responsibility for what those men may do if elected. I have little faith in ante-election promises of such politicians. The executive committee of the League has been hoodwinked."

LEAGUE'S CONTENTIONS.

The executive committee of the League contends that the endorsements of Dolan and Leland were in behalf of Francis J. Heney's candidacy for district attorney and they would gain through the alliance a strong factor in Heney's support.

Spreckels says he disagrees with the League on this point and that he will devote himself to Heney's fight exclusively.

SOUTHRONS ARE FOR STATE DIVISION

Committee of Ten Meet to Name Delegates to Conference at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—With the meeting late today of the ten prominent citizens comprising the committee of the mass convention of last Monday, empowered to appoint ten delegates to a conference and to invite the co-operation of the commercial and civic bodies of the city, the protest against the raise by the State Board of Equalization of Southern California property valuations assumed definite shape.

It was expected that the action of the committee today would be supported by the other semi-public bodies of the city and that the conference of all the associated interests would be held within the next thirty days in accordance with the resolution adopted by Monday's meeting.

STATE DIVISION.

Whatever action in regard to division of the state that may seem proper in the minds of the members of the conference will be taken at that time. If it is deemed advisable a convention will be called and all of the Southern California counties and cities will be invited to send delegates.

Great resentment against the Board of Equalization and also against the northern section of the state which is credited in most quarters with either fostering or condoning the action of the State Board is manifested generally throughout the city.

APTITUDE OF PRESS.

The local press is not unanimous in demanding a state divorce. One paper contents itself with denouncing the action of the Board and demanding an equalization by the raising of northern California values. Another touches lightly upon state division and opposes urging as a remedy the adoption of the recall principle as a part of the state constitution. Still another calls vigorously to the people of Southern California to vote down all appropriations of state money for the improvement of the northern section. One paper alone indignantly demands immediate state division and deals with the situation in radical language.

The interest of the people in the subject is very widespread.

Boys Thought Dead Caught in Oregon

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—The three Reform School boys who escaped from the school camp on Catalina Island two months ago, stole a gasoline launch and supplies and fled to sea and who were later reported as drowned when their boat was found overturned and demolished in the surf on this side of the channel have been captured in Eugene, Or., according to a telegram received at the state institution today.

Captain Connors of the reform school left to bring back the fugitives. Photographs and descriptions of the boys had been sent broadcast and it is presumed they were identified by this means.

CREMATORY WILL BE RESTRAINED

Residents of the First Ward Protest Against Gibson Building

At a meeting of the Board of Public Works this morning, Attorney James A. Johnson appeared on behalf of the residents of the First Ward and asked that the building permit issued to F. R. Gibson, a contractor from Portland, Oregon, to erect a crematory at the intersection of Linda and Piedmont avenues, be revoked. Gibson, it appears, obtained permission to erect the crematory under the assumption that the building was to be for educational purposes. His real intention was not discovered until later. The City Council last Monday night passed an ordinance prohibiting the erection of crematories within certain prescribed districts, including the place where Gibson would erect his crematory.

City Attorney John W. Stetson stated that there was nothing which the board could do, as the man had a right to apply for a building permit for a packing house or a crematory or any other building.

Stetson did say, however, that the man should have been honest in his application to the Board for the permit.

The council ordinance will probably restrain Gibson from erecting the objectionable building.

SUTTON AUTOPSY REVEALS NO CRIME

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. — Although the report of Surgeon Spears of the navy, who made the autopsy at Arlington, Monday, on the body of Lieutenant Sutton, has been submitted to the navy department it is known that the autopsy disclosed nothing inconsistent with the theory with the lieutenant's death, either accident or with suicidal intent.

The powder on the side of his face did not extend below the skin. The hole made by the bullet in the cranium showed distinct traces of powder marks and the bruise extending from the bullet wound outward was such as might have been made by the gas generated by the powder at very close range.

INDICATIONS OF INCENDIARY FIRE

Police Officer Discovers Incipient Blaze in New Buildings

Policeman C. J. O'Brien reported to Captain of Police Lynch this morning that he discovered a fire, probably of incendiary origin, in two new buildings in the course of erection at Fifty-third and Market streets. The police officer put the fire out without calling on the fire department.

From the statements of the police officer it would appear that there had been a quantity of shavings scrapped together and set fire by the application of acid. There was a volume of smoke pouring from one of the rooms when the police officer arrived, although the flames were not specially noticeable. It only required a few kicks from the policeman's foot to scatter the burning mass and prevent the fire from obtaining hold on the building.

The contractor erecting the buildings is W. Johnson of 5369 Market street.

Detective Harry Green has been detailed to make an investigation of the origin of the fire.

CONTEST DISMISSED IN THE HOPE ESTATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—The will contest opened by William M. Hope, son of James A. Hope, some time ago, leaving an estate of $134,000, was dismissed this morning. Hope received only $15,000 by the will, while the housekeeper of the dead man and other heirs were provisionally provided for.

The attorneys for William A. Hope, however, filed a petition and it would appear as though he has decided to drop the suit.

URGE SPEECH.

Oakland, Calif., September 12th, 1909.

Mr. Fred. W. Carpenter, Secretary to the President, Beverly, Mass.: — The telegram, approving program received. The President's speech at the Greek Theater, University, will be about 2:30 a. m. This early hour will preclude the possibility of the majority of the people of Alameda county hearing the President. Berkeley being located in northwest corner of Alameda county, said county having about three hundred and fifty thousand population.

Oakland is one of the three largest cities in the State. Extremely short address would satisfy and would be very much appreciated by the people of Oakland and the county.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 14, 1909.

The President, Private Car, Mayflower, Boston, Mass.

Replying to your telegram of 13th, the committees of both Oakland and Berkeley have held several conferences, and, after fully considering the many demands made upon your time for that day, and realizing that the request for a speech from each city would be too great a tax upon you, most earnestly request a few words from you at Oakland, Alameda county, the chief city and most centrally located point accessible to all sections by electric and steam roads. The other portions of the Oakland and Berkeley program will remain as submitted and approved.

TO TEST SANITY OF GIRL'S SLAYER

J. E. Cunningham, Who Killed Caroline Brasch, Ordered Before Board

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15. —. James Edward Cunningham, the slayer of Caroline Brasch, was sent to the detention hospital this morning to be examined as to his sanity, following a session in Judge Dunne's court, in which his counsel, Attorney King, was accused of bad faith by Assistant District Attorney Louis Ward.

Today had been set for the trial of Cunningham, who shot down the young bookkeeper for Gray Brothers. The jury was in court, and all was ready to go on, when Attorney King declared that his conversation yesterday with the murderer had convinced him of the latter's unsound mind, and he wanted a jury impaneled to try that matter.

MAKES CHARGES.

Attorney Ward pointed out that he must have known for three months of the condition of his client, and he thought it was untimely to bring it up this morning.

"I hate to say it, but I must say I don't think the motion was made in good faith," he declared. "They have known this all along. They bring it up now because they want to delay this matter, and for the purpose of influencing the jurors to try the case."

Later Ward withdrew his opposition and the court ordered Cunningham sent before the commissioner, the case to go on again on Monday.

Judge Dunne took a rap at Attorney E. B. Kirk, who had represented Cunningham, in the police court, saying that if the latter knew that his client was insane, as King had stated, it was his duty to inform the court.

EVIDENCE SUBMITTED IN TOMALTY TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Numerous entries on the books in the treasurer's office formed the major part of evidence in the case of James C. Tomalty, on trial before Judge Lawlor this morning. John P. Winter, an entry clerk under Treasurer Vincell, was the only witness.

VETERAN MERCHANT DIES A RIPE AGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—I. H. Jacobs, for many years a prominent merchant of the San Joaquin Valley, where his firm conducted seven stores in different cities, died today at his home in this city, aged 69 years. A widow and five children survive him.

Jacobs settled in La Grange, Cal., in 1858, and later organized the Seventy-Six Land and Water Company, of which he was the first president.

SUPERVISORS WANT TO SEE BUDGET

Discuss Proposed School Tax Levy But Pass Matter up Again

The city council has evidently left the responsibility for levying a tax to provide the additional sum of $110,000 for municipal school purposes squarely upon the Board of Supervisors.

None of the city fathers appeared at the conference that was called for at the supervisorial chambers this morning. President Hannaford of the board of education and Superintendent of Schools McClymonds were the only city representatives on hand to tussle for the $110,000 which the latter sets forth is necessary to run the schools during the coming year. The city budget was carefully viewed by the Supervisors and items of about $35,000 for automobiles, tennis courts and assistant sanitary inspectors caused the fourth ward supervisor's pen to do a lot of scratching.

CUT TO PIECES.

Talking about automobiles Supervisor Kelley acclaimed: "And here is another one of those things for the street superintendent. I knew Ott when he didn't ride around in an automobile."

Then it transpired the budget submitted had been all culled and cut to pieces and held no resemblance to the final draft of items and figures upon which the City Council based the municipal levy on last Monday night. The mayor and acting mayor, it was announced, was out of town. It finally developed Councilman Elliot was Mayor pro tem, but he was not on hand to explain matters.

LEFT TO FIGHT IT OUT.

President Hannaford declared the Board of Education were the sufferers and it was evident they had been left alone to fight out the proposed tax levy all by themselves.

The matter of levying the municipal school tax levy was finally laid over until Councilman Elliot and Ellsworth could be communicated with in regard to the real state of the city budget.

The board then went into executive session to consider the county rate of taxation.

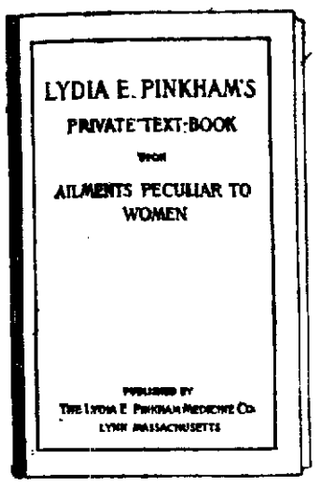

At noon an adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

FLINT FAILS AS PINCHOT PILOT

Southern Senator is Lost in Canyon on San Clemente

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—Senator Frank P. Flint today is recovering from the experiences of a harowing six hours when he was lost in a deep canyon of San Clemente Island, according to news that has just reached the mainland.

Flint, with Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot, Steward Edward White, the author, of Santa Barbara, and C. F. Holder, have been fishing at San Clemente, which lies thirty-five miles at sea, for the last week. Monday, according to the report, the party started to explore the Indian mounds that lie in the interior of the island.

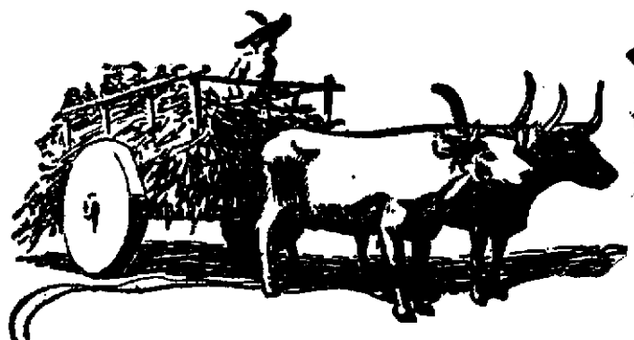

On the return trip Flint saw what he thought would prove to be a short cut to the camp. He journeyed down a narrow gorge for more than half an hour, only to find that it ended abruptly at foot of a huge face of granite. When he attempted to retrace his steps he lost his way.

After wandering for hours and shouting for help, the Senator was about to give up and look for a sheltered spot to spend the night when he caught the shimmer of the ocean through a narrow side canyon that entered the gorge. He hurried to the beach, which was merely a sandy shelf protected on all sides by impassable bluffs.

About dusk the prisoner sighted a small fishing boat several hundred yards off shore, and by shouting and waving his coat attracted the attention of its skipper. He arrived at the camp just as his companions were organizing a searching party to go back over the trail.

CANAL THEORY OF MARS ALL WRONG

Prof. W. W. Campbell of Lick Says Photographs Indicate Dearth of Water Vapor

SAN JOSE Sept 5 — Photographs taken of the hurriedly approaching planet Mars by Professor W W Campbell of the Lick observatory indicate a dearth of water vapor on the fiery orb. This discovery makes the canal theory as all wrong and raises doubt as to the approaching planet being freighted with intelligent life.

The photographs were taken during the recent expedition which was financed through the generosity of William H Crocker the well known banker and a regent of the State University.

The photographs of the red globe are clear and distinct and the atmospheric conditions appear to be the same as exist on the moon.

As to whether life prevails there is not answered by the professor.

These observations declares Doctor Campbell do not prove that life does not or can not exist on Mars. The question of life under the conditions is the biological problem rather than the astronomers.

EXPELLED FROM NATIONAL GUARD

Governor Gillett Takes Commissions From Offices of Protesting Companies

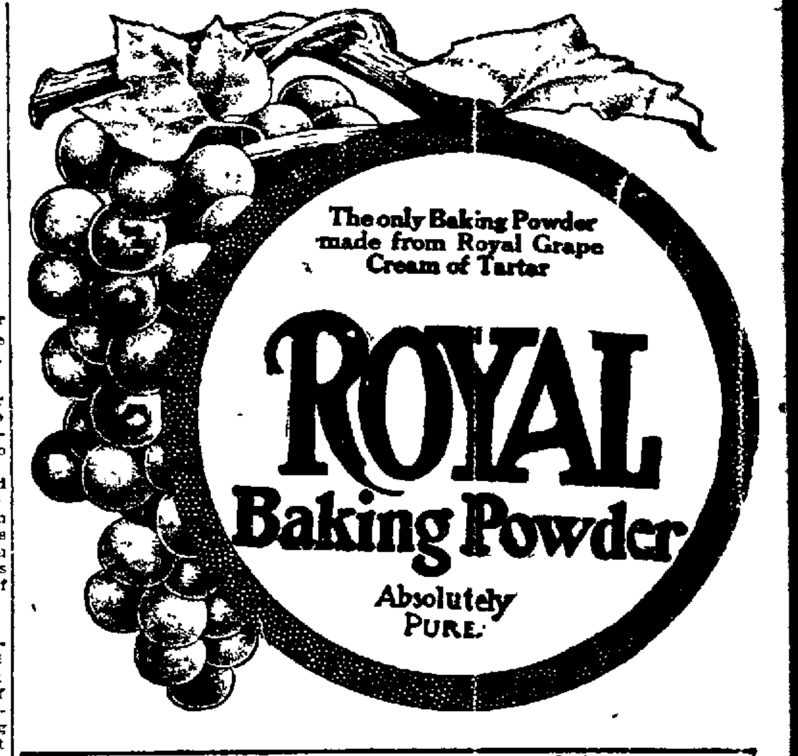

SACRAMENTO Sept. 15—Governor Gillett yesterday signed an order for the dismissal from the service of five commissioned officers of the Coast Artillery National Guard who because of their transfer from the infantry branch to the Coast Artillery protested against leaving their own exclusive quarters to go to the common barracks.

When Adjutant General Lauck would not listen to this protest, a petition signed by the eighty four militiamen under command of these six officers was presented to Governor Gillett asking him to permit the six officers and their troops to retain their old quarters in spite of their transfer to the Coast Artillery.

The upshot of the matter was the expulsion from the service of Captain J C [illegible]gel First Lieutenant W H Mallett Second Lieutenant C C De Wolf all of the First Company of the Coast Artillery Corps First Lieutenant T C Young and Second Lieutenant Albert V Collett of the regiment. CHILD WALKS IN SLEEP; IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 15—Josephine Fitzgerald a 14-year-old girl residing at 1215 Rhode Island street was perhaps fatally injured early this morning as the result of roaming around in her sleep. While asleep she opened the door, walked along the hallway, and then stumbling over the obstruction, fell twenty steps down the front flight striking her head against the hall door.

Dr Pinkham treated her at the Central Emergency Hospital for a contusion of the nose, a badly lacerated scalp, severe bruises and a possible fracture of the skull.

This man of today is the coming man. The man of the hour. He is the man that does things, the man that succeeds. His future looks promising and comfortable. No matter if you have only a few dollars, pay that few dollars down on a lot TODAY and make the start—For a start in the right direction means everything.

Hundreds of people now realize that Melrose Heights offers greater advantages than any other place about the bay for a permanent home. We have sold 400 lots during the past few months and have only 200 more to sell.

Spreckels and the Good Government League.

Rudolph Spreckels has abandoned and disowned his political offspring, the Good Government League, because that bastard organization has had the ingratitude and unfilial disobedience to endorse the Democratic nominees for Mayor and Sheriff despite his commands. The league stood for his candidate for District Attorney, but that was taking only a part of the Spreckels program when the league was organized expressly to do the bidding of Spreckels. The kind of rule the Good Government League was organized to institute and maintain is government by Spreckels, for Spreckels—a government in which all officeholders are deputies for Spreckels, obeying him instead of the law and recognizing him as sovereign and not the people.

Hence the refusal of the league to nominate men who will not agree to let William J. Burns run the police department and boss the selection of juries was open rebellion—flat perjury, as Judge Dunne would say. While possession of the District Attorney's office is vital to the success of the Spreckels designs, possession of the Sheriff's office is equally vital. It is not enough that Spreckels should have his privately paid attorney in charge of the administration of the criminal law, the selection of trial juries must be placed, directly or indirectly, in the hands of a paid employe of Spreckels; in addition, the police department must work under the authority and direction of the same influence. The Spreckels control can only be assured by suzerainty, if not ownership, of the judges of the criminal courts, the District Attorney's office, the Sheriff's office and the police department. When that degree of perfection is reached Rudolph Spreckels has only to press the button to insure the conviction of any person he desires to be incarcerated for the public good and his peace of mind.

The Sheriff is charged by law with the duty of summoning trial jurors. If he be so minded, he can greatly expedite the conviction of persons accused of crime. William J. Burns is on record as saying Sheriff Dolan "cannot be trusted to select juries." This explains the righteous indignation of Spreckels at the nomination of Dolan by the Good Government League. The kind of juries that would be called to serve in criminal trials by a man Burns considers safe to trust can easily be imagined. With judge, jury and prosecuting officer en rapport and working harmoniously to a desired end, the result could hardly be designated as a gambling proposition. In the argot of the green cloth it would be a sure thing.

The Mayor controls the police department. The power to appoint and remove Police Commissioners is vested in him, and in emergencies he is authorized to assume direction of the activities of the police force, which is a most powerful and well organized machine. The control of this potent engine is essential to the success of the Spreckels aim to completely dominate the community through absolute control of the machinery of justice. The desire to hold the police department in complete subjection explains the system of persecution by which the late Chief Biggy was driven to suicide. Biggy had refused to resign at the command of Spreckels, and he was destroyed. The Police Commissioners who stood by him in his refusal are booked for destruction.

It is not difficult, therefore, to discern the hole in the grindstone presented by Spreckels' anger at the endorsement of Dr. Leland, the Democratic Mayoralty nominee by the Good Government League. It is easy to surmise that Leland has refused to agree that the Police Commission and the police department shall be subject to the control of William J. Burns, chief of the Fifth Section of the Spreckels autocracy. Either that, or the resignation of Spreckels from the Good Government League is an artful gallery play to throw dust in the eyes of the public by making the people believe Leland is independent of Spreckels when he is, in fact, the subservient instrument of that individual.

And Peary, according to his own story, was not accompanied to the North Pole by any white man; so he is no better off in that respect than Dr. Cook. Indeed, he is not as well off, for his own crew says that he had only one Eskimo with him when he "nailed the flag to the pole," whereas Cook had two with him. That Peary found no land at the pole—nothing but a frozen sea—is a corroboration of Cook's narrative of the conditions existing at the boreal center. The only new contribution to human knowledge which Peary seems to have obtained that Cook was not equipped to secure was an attempt to make a sounding within five miles of the pole, with no bottom at 1500 fathoms, the limit of his lead line which broke and was lost as he endeavored to pull it up.

The San Joaquin County supervisors are about to invite bids for the improvement of a twenty-mile section of the lower Sacramento road with asphaltum macadam. This improvement represents an expenditure of about $200,000 of the recent bond issue of $2,000,000 authorized by the people of the county for the improvement of 236 miles of the county highways. The supervisors evidently intend that San Joaquin county shall have one of the best and most durably paved systems of highways in the State, for asphaltum macadam pavement means dustless roads in summer and mudless roads in winter, and smooth roads at all seasons of the year.

'Tax Dodging' in the South.

The detection by the State Board of Equalization of a lot of the Southern counties in what the San Diego Union is pleased to describe as "tax-dodging" and the raising of their assessment valuations from 25 per cent in the case of Santa Barbara, 40 per cent in the case of Los Angeles and Riverside, and 50 per cent in the case of Orange, to 100 per cent in the case of Ventura, has raised a roar of indignation, particularly in the city of Los Angeles, where it is manifesting itself in the foolish and hopeless revival of the agitation for state division.

Whether the State board was "incompetent or unfair," says the San Diego Union, "people who have followed the controversy over Southern California assessments will be slow to make either of these charges." In fact, the methods employed by those southern counties whose assessment valuations have been raised to dodge the payment of their just quota toward the State revenues were so raw and so thoroughly exposed out of the mouths of their own witnesses that they have only themselves to blame for the course taken by the State Equalizers. They employed one schedule of values for raising city revenues; another, and much lower one, for county purposes and to serve as a basis of taxation for the benefit of the State, and still another to employ when "the tenderfoot" came along, which in some cases was 1000 per cent higher than the county assessment valuation. They cannot live down such deliberate "tax dodging" by raising a roar and threatening State division, for one is just as futile as the other.

As the San Diego Union truly states: "The storm that it (the action taken by the State Equalizers) will occasion is apt to be in vain. The average citizen likes the idea of a low tax rate, and has no sympathy with the tax dodger. In the absence of proof to the contrary, the board will be assumed to have known its business and to have done its duty. And the fact that the principal roar comes from Los Angeles will not strengthen the protest. Some years ago that thrifty 'metropolis' was employed in systematically defrauding the State by means of padded school rolls. If it engaged in that sort of pilfering—and the proof was conclusive—it might not be above playing the game on a larger scale by means of unduly low assessments. And in now assailing the equalizers, it does not come into court with clean hands."

Peary's Attacks on Cook.

In the language of the sporting fraternity, Commander Robert E. Peary is "a bad loser," for there is scarcely room for doubt that Dr. Cook reached the North Pole ahead of him within a few days of one year under conditions similar but less favorable than to himself. Peary's report of the physical condition of 90 degrees north latitude, longitude 0, corresponds with the report Dr. Cook brought out of the silent north and gave to the civilized world six days before Peary's whereabouts in the Roosevelt were known. Peary's first announcement of the result of his voyage revealed no foreknowledge of Dr. Cook's achievement. When first advised of the latter he simply discredited it. Subsequently he declared Cook was a faker. Later he said that Cook had given civilization "a gold brick" and revealed the fact that he had deliberately concealed a foreknowledge of what Cook claimed to have accomplished by declaring that the doctor had stolen his route, his Eskimos, his dogs and his plans for the "dash to the pole" and could not have reached it because the Eskimos reported to him that Cook had never been out of sight of land; that he himself had reached the pole with four Eskimos and his negro servant and had abundant proof to establish his own claim of discovery and that of Cook to be "a fake."

Peary seems to be "protesting too much," for his own men now say that if he reached the pole he did so with only one Eskimo companion, the name of whom has not been given. Cook, on the other hand, has stated that he reached the pole with two Eskimos, whose names he has given, and that he spent two days with them taking observations at the pole to substantiate his position. If the testimony of one Eskimo is good, the testimony of two ought to be more convincing.

Meantime, the vicious attacks which Peary has made in his effort to discredit Cook has brought out counter attacks upon himself by Cook's friends and confidants, who openly accuse him of appropriating Cook's supplies with the manifest intent of defeating his effort to reach civilization on his retreat from the pole; robbed his cache of valuable furs; opened and read his private correspondence to his wife and other high-handed proceedings which put him in a most unenviable and dishonorable position and one most difficult to explain—for these charges are apparently backed by a cloud of witnesses whose testimony seems to be unimpeachable. Moreover, if Cook's records were placed in the hands of Whitney, a wealthy man of leisure hunting in the Arctic, to be carried to civilization and were transferred by him to the Roosevelt to enable him to continue his hunting in Labrador, where he is now said to be, Peary will be confronted later with the grave charge of having destroyed them, as he says that there are no records belonging to Cook on board his ship. The naval commander will apparently have a whole lot of explaining to do when he reaches home to satisfy the public and the scientific world that he is not guilty of deception, dishonesty in deed and word and a deliberate maligner of a more successful rival in the field of Arctic exploration.

SEEING THE NORTH POLE

—From Inter-Ocean.

In the Public Eye

Dr. Holmes was not born at the right time of year to make celebration of his centenary more fitting and effective, nor was Tennyson. The consequence is in each case that recognition of the event will not have been so general or as worthy as it would have been had they been born within the academic or working year of the Anglo-American worlds. Great-men-to-be, now incarnate in some lower forms of life will please take warning! The Cambridge Historical Society began the Holmes celebration last spring, choosing that ante-natal date to enlist men who could not be got this month. The physicians of New York city are to wait until October 9 for their pious recognition of Dr. Holmes' eminence as a physician; and it is to be noted that they are to have no less an authority than Dr. M. H. Richardson of this city as chief speaker.

Lovers of Browning will be interested to note that Lieut. Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, is a Browningite. In an address he recently gave at the Browning settlement, Walworth, London, he said that he had with him that afternoon the little book of Robert Browning that he took on he southern journey with him. "It was wet with sweat when they toiled through the day, and it froze hard at night, but it kept its words clear inside. They were words that were of use to them, and that helped them through the dark and the cold and the storm. There were many messages which he found there, such as that from 'Prospice':

'Fear death?—to feel the fog in my throat,
The mist in my face,
When the snows begin, and the blasts denote,
I am nearer the place,
The power of the night, the press of the storm,
The post of the foe.'

"Browning was only the messenger of a greater power. The whole message that he preached was one of optimism, and it was one that we needed more in this world, with its fierce competition all around. We needed to look up and to believe that all was right with the world, and that man must work."

Mr. John Jay Chapman, whose letters to President Eliot and to Maj. Higginson anent the 'Harvard Classics,' which a publishing house has induced President Eliot to select and edit, is a Harvard alumnus who 10 years ago won a place of considerable promise in the worlds of literary criticism and civic reform; but of late he has been quiescent. With the new edition of his books, recently announced and his throwing down the gauntlet to the ex-president of Harvard, in a fashion that few men in the past have cared or dared to, it would seem as if Mr. Chapman were once more to be reckoned with. If his tenacity equals his temerity the ultimate outcome of this latest act of iconoclasm may be dramatically interesting.

The late Otto H. Bacher was not without ability; but it may be his fate to be longest remembered because of his intimate relations with Whistler, and his contributions to knowledge of that genius both on his human and on his artistic side.

"I fed him with bird's milk." This curious expression was used by the old Sultan of Turkey while a prisoner on his way to Salonika, with reference to his brother Mohammed, his predecessor on the throne. Abdul Hamid was lamenting his own fate and telling his captors how little he deserved it and how kind he had been to his brother. "I fed him with bird's milk," he said, as if that were the greatest kindness he could show. What is bird's milk? Not the Turkish equivalent of the milk of human kindness, but a European brand of condensed milk bearing on the can a picture of a bird on a nest.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the well known suffragist, while she hopes she gives due credit to the noble being, Man, does not, on the other hand, overestimate the lords of creation. She was speaking recently, says the Woman's Home Companion, of another prominent woman who is somewhat lukewarm in the suffragist cause. "The trouble with Mrs. Blank," said Mrs. Catt, "is that she fairly worships her husband. She thinks that he is absolutely perfect. Why, the woman actually believes that the parrot taught him to swear."

Holland has no claim on aviation records, but, according to a report from Amsterdam, it is the first country in which an airship has been seized for debt. It is a flying machine of the Voisin pattern, owned by La Mouette, a Paris aeronaut association which was organized to give exhibitions in Holland. The promoter was to receive a salary and a liberal commission on the receipts for tickets in the various places. "It would have been a fine speculation," says the article, "but for the fact that the machine would not fly. At the first attempt the grandstand, which had been erected for the purpose, remained empty, but the thrifty farmer who owned the adjoining meadows made money by charging admission to his grounds. The promoter, who had spent time and money in endeavors to secure paying spectators, wanted remuneration for his labors, which the Paris society refused to give him. Hence the seizure."

Dr. F. S. Penny has won a prize from the British Health Review for the best answers to three questions, one of which is "Are cereal eating nations ever first class powers?" Dr. Penny offers some interesting arguments in the course of his answers: "The latest modern example is the Japanese. Staple diet, rice, vegetables and a little fish sometimes. The Romans in their prime were practically vegetarian. Staple ration, corn. It is recorded that severe disease broke out in the Roman army before Lilybaeum in the first Punic war, owing to their being forced to feed on meat by the wreckage of their corn ships. Compare also the complaint of Caesar's legions in Gaul of mutton being substituted for their corn rations. The staple food of the ancient Greek is said to have been maize, vegetables and oil. The Mahometans under Omar, and later, fed chiefly on dates, milk and cereals."

There is a revival of the tatto habit in Germany, according to an article published in a Frankfort paper. Heretofore, the writer says it was difficult to find a tattooed subject who had not been decorated at one of the seaport towns. The men were sailors and the few women who had fallen to the habit were wives or sweethearts of tattooed men. The tatooartist now finds willing subject far inland, among people who never saw a sailor or the sea. Recently a man at Munich noticed that the arm of a young laborer who was pushing a loaded luggage cart was elaborately tattooed, and he asked the young fellow why he had submitted to the painful operation and why he had chosen the portrait of a German philosopher to decorate his arm. "That's Nietzsche," he said. "I like his face, and he wrote 'Thou shalt fight.' I like the sentiment as much as the face," and he trudged along laboriously pushing the burden. The larger patterns from which the tattoo artists ask their clients to make selections include portraits of Lincoln, Franklin, Grant and Roosevelt and pictures of New York's highest skyscrapers.

What hidden treasures, chiefly in the way of ancient documents, still lie buried and undiscovered within the walls of our ancient cathedrals it would be difficult to estimate. That there are such is proved by the recent discoveries at Worcester Cathedral, where some thousands of documents hitherto lying unnoticed in the Edgar tower of the cathedral have been brought to light. Through the influence of a committee specially formed under the presidency of the Bishop these documents have been cleaned and catalogued and packed in boxes for preservation. Many of these papers are of great value, bearing upon the history of the see and illustrating religious life in early times. One of the most interesting of the documents is four pages of a very early copy, supposed to have been written under Italian influence in the south of France, of the "Romaunt of the Rose." It is surprising that all these papers were not previously unearthed; their discovery now should prove an incentive to deans of cathedrals to look around for the possibility of similar discoveries. — Pall Mall Gazette.

Concerning a Retired Admiral, The North Pole and a Grouch

To gray hairs and declining years all honor, but to the state of mind which the vernacular describes as "grouch," all pity. In the flush of national pride which followed the announcement by cable that Dr. Frederick A. Cook, an American explorer, had discovered the north pole, up rises Admiral George W. Melville, a retired American naval officer, and an explorer himself, to register the one big knock at the achievement. Men of science in England, France and Norway had come forward with words of congratulation and with compliments in their mouths. The explorer was not without honor save in his own country.

Admiral Melville had failed to do what Dr. Cook was announced as having accomplished. Therefore the victory of Cook was an impossibility. He hadn't a big enough outfit; he couldn't have traveled as fast as he said he did. There was nothing to confirm the original dispatches.

Oh! yes, the feat was possible, but it was highly improbable.

With no exception the comments breathe the spirit of the venerable grouch. To be entirely fair with Admiral Melville, let us assume merely for the sake of argument, that all of his points are well taken. Would not it have been more in the line with the spirit of Americanism, the spirit of fair play to a rival, the spirit of generosity toward all men, to have waited for the full account before swinging the hammer of doubt? Wouldn't it have been more sportsmanlike? — N. Y. Telegraph.

Deserted Farms Are a Menace

NEWTON, N. J.—The United States is following the footsteps of the Roman Empire, is the assertion of Supreme Court Justice James F. Minturn, who lectured recently in Branchville before the Frankfort Grange, Patrons of Husbandry.

"The United States is repeating the history of Rome," said the judge, "in the amalgamation of small farms into large estates by moneyed interests, driving the country residents to the cities for a livelihood. The few who remain behind are becoming laborers and hired men of the big land owners.

"Rome's decline was due to the reduction of the small farmer to a serf through the absorption of his property by the wealthy Romans. The farmers then lost their patriotism, and the empire had to depend on hired troops for defense in the frequent wars. Something ought to be done to get persons back to the farms. State or national legislation, I believe, could, if it would, effect this. We have neglected other things for the last 100 years in the accumulation of wealth. Among those things is social life."

No Separation For Ireland

On his return to this city recently from a trip to Europe, John D. Crimmins, in speaking of the "New Ireland," said:

"Ireland is now in a prosperous condition and the effects of the wise legislation enacted for the Irish people in the last decade is becoming apparent. The farmers especially are having prosperity and the tendency to emigrate from Ireland is much less than has been manifest in years.

"Ireland, I think, never will exist apart from England, but the time does not seem far distant when she will be going her way in prosperity under a government similar to that of many of the colonies of Great Britain. I believe that under such a system Ireland will be content to continue as one of the parts of Great Britain. Each year witnesses an increase of satisfaction among Irishmen with conditions of government in their country, as it becomes more and more manifest the centuries of misrule which prevailed in the island are at an end and that each year is bringing more improvement in governmental affairs."—New York Press.

Sunburn Is a Cause for Cancer

BOSTON.—Dr. E. F. Tyzzer, in charge of cancer research in the Harvard Medical School, the other day made known that sunlight may produce cancer. He said there is danger of cancer in sunburn and that the sun is most likely to cause cancer in persons with red hair.

Dr. Tyzzer is a member of the State Cancer Commission, and is among the world's foremost specialists on the disease. He has spent many years on the theory that the sun's rays are likely to so affect the tissues as to lead to cancer. He has exchanged reports with European specialists, and now says it has been established thoroughly that too much exposure to the sun may develop the disease.

"Thirty cases of cancer from sunlight have been proved over the world," said Dr. Tyzzer, "and there is so much scientific information on the subject at last that it is time to warn the public. Red headed persons are most likely to be affected. Two cases of sunburn cancer were observed by me in Boston this summer, and each patient had flaming red hair. The sun's rays seem to have cancerous effect on persons of certain inherited peculiarities, but all we know positively now is that red hair is the danger signal."

It was told by Dr. Tyzzer that "peeling" arms were likely to be followed by a cancerous growth. He finally said that the discovery might lead to important developments in cancer treatment, as it had been the general belief that sunlight was good for the disease. He warned everybody, specially the person with red hair, not to take a sun bath to the point of blistering or shedding skin.—New York Press.

LAND SWINDLERS MULCT EASTERNERS

Wyoming Con Men Said to Have Made $400,000 in Two Years

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 15.—Mineral land swindlers in Northern Wyoming in two years have taken $400,000 out of the pockets of residents of Eastern States, according to State Geologist Edwin Hall, who says he will ask Governor Brooks to take action in cases which he investigated after having received more than fifty letters of inquiry from people said to have been defrauded.

Hall says that in the vicinity of Sun Dance a coterie of swindlers secured $30,000 by getting from Eastern people $101.30 each for 300 iron claims, promising that the twenty-[illegible] claims would later be purchased for $40 an acre.

The $101.30, he says, was represented to be the cost of doing location work and filing papers. Such location work, he reports, was never done. In fact he declares there is no evidence that a pick was ever struck into the surface of the claims.

SAN FRANCISCO SOCIETY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 15.—Broken hearts and shattered hopes are most likely to be in evidence for many a long day to come, for little Danny Cupid has put Miss Peggy Stow, one of California's greatest belles, on the list of engaged girls.

The news of the coming betrothal has been given to the world at large by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Sherman Stow, and the happy man is Edward Bright Bruce, the son of a New York clergyman.

The romance is the culmination of a boy and girl friendship that began when Miss Stow was attending Pelham Manor, and the groom to be was a student at Columbia University. He is an attorney and is practicing law in Manila, where he and his bride will reside.

Although Mrs. Stow, who is a member of the old Hollister family, has always made her home in Santa Barbara, her friends in San Francisco are legion and her daughter was one of the most sought after girls at all the smart functions last winter. ¶ Three of our 13th St. windows filled with the cream of Cut Glass of modern patterns are an attraction to the passerby. More attractive are our prices, quality considered.

¶ Ours is not the pressed glass shown in some windows at a deceiving price; it is not the acid finished kind which is misleading for a moment and short lived as to luster and sparkle.

¶ Ours is the real hand cut, hand wheel polished kind, of the latest and most artistic designs; made of plain, white crystal blanks and will remain a monument of beauty, flash and sparkle—a feast for the human eye.

Fall's Opening Days

Success of Our Fall Opening

THIS is an interesting week, both to us and to the thousands of women and misses who have attended our Fall opening. We invited everybody to come and pass judgment on our Fashions, variety, quality and prices.

After three days of close criticism the verdict of the public has been rendered---our claim to supremacy is declared to be well founded.

Fancy Waists of White Messaline

Beautiful beyond power of words to tell. Declared to be "the thing" for the coming season's indoor affairs. Made of high-grade Messaline and elaborately trimmed with medallions, heavy laces in novel effects. New length of sleeves—

$6.50, $7.50 and to $14.50

Silk Jersey Waists

Daily becoming more fashionable are these natty, pure silk Jersey Waists. Come in regular lengths and also in styles that reach the hips, and are worn outside the skirts. Single and double-breasted, some trimmed with soutache braid, others simply tailored—

$6, $7.50, $8.50 to $10.50

The New Corsets

A magnificent dress worn over a poorly-fitted Corset is an abomination, whereas a very ordinary dress if set off with a stylish, perfectly-fitted Corset will be very effective. Such is the style value of the Corset.

The new Fall models are built to harmonize with the effects desired by the creators of fashions. As there is much diversity of fashion, so is there just as much variety of Corsets.

Our corsetiere's experience enables her to at once detect your individual exactions.

Among our many lines are the "Kabo," "Royal Worcester," "Helene," Thompson's Glove-Fitting," "R. & G.," "La Reve" and others.

$1, $1.50, $2 and to $10

Children's Walking Coats

The new "Piccadilly" Coats of the genuine English type will delight and satisfy more than ever. Their quality, tone and individuality are very pronounced and in every detail they are just the coats that young folks like to wear, and that are a source of pride to parents and children.

New Fall colors, some with velvet collars and big buttons—and all smart—

$5.75, $7.50 and to $16.50

Other cloth Coats—sizes 6 to 14—

$4.25, $4.95 and to $15.50

Latest Belts

With Fall has come a generous variety of novelty effects in [illegible] Belts. The new beaded designs have distinctive charm and give perfect finish to any waist.

McAleer Tells of Sight That Amused Him Most

"I've seen some funny sights since I have been in baseball," said Jim McAleer, manager of the St. Louis Americans, "but the one that amused me most was when Ollie Pickering, now with Minneapolis, faced Cy Seymour in a game on the Polo Grounds ten or twelve years ago. Seymour had a great assortment of curves, but couldn't control them. Some days no one could tell where the ball was going. 'Pick,' with his bat high in air, made a lunge at one of Cy's curves and the sphere instead of coming up near his neck, as he thought it would, took a downward slant and knocked one of his toenails off."

Fruitvale Now Has Strong Team in Transbay League

The newly constructed Fruitvale team gave the San Leandro champions a surprise Sunday by defeating them easily by a score of [illegible]. Manager Fraser has his team going well and they should be reckoned with from now on. There is not a weak hitter on the team and all are fast fielders. Snow will do the backstop work from now on, while Sp[illegible] and Herr[illegible] will do the twirling. Grimmerman, Mitle, Cereghino and Michelson, formerly of the Transportation Club, will play first, third, left field and center field respectively, while Bartel will cover second base and Jacobsen right field, the latter two being old Fruitvale favorites. Bob Lynch did not report Sunday, and Broderick, said to be one of the best first sackers ever turned out of Santa Clara College, will play the short field in his place. Broderick knows the game from A to Z and played a brilliant game. Lynch is a [illegible] and with a little more experience will be able to hold his own with the fastest.

The white man has his burden, but what would you call that of the colored man in Ohio who has a wife, nineteen children and eleven dogs to support on $6 a week?

Last Year's Winning Team Not in 'It' This Season

This has been a tough season for [illegible] which last year won the pennants in the [illegible] and Class A leagues. There [illegible] to be [illegible] chance for the Chicago Cubs to shatter a National League tradition and carry four pennants in a row, while the Tigers certainly are having their own troubles. Conditions in the camps of the 1908 flag winners of the American Association and Eastern League [illegible]. The Indianapolis team is running seventh in the sprint for the honors. [illegible] O'Brien organization and [illegible] in the second division in the Eastern League the circles will have to hustle [illegible] to escape the disgrace of finishing last.

"That's a well bred child."

"You bet he is. Never corrected her parents publicly, no matter what the exigencies of the case may be."—Pittsburg Post.

Burned Red Fire and Chased Her in Her Night Gown; Now She Wants a Divorce

CHICAGO.—Dressing in a robe of flaming red with black trimmings to represent himself as the Prince of the Legion of Brimstone and Sulphur, burning incense and making wild noises to frighten his wife, were acts ascribed to Andrew Blaes in a bill for divorce today by Mrs. Blaes. The husband owns $100,000 worth of property and lives at the Glenview Golf Club.

While Mrs. Blaes and her husband have lived in the same house nine years it is asserted that they have occupied separate apartments.

"About eight or nine years ago," says Mrs. Blaes in her bill, "My husband took up the study of hypnotism and occultism and has conducted many experiments in our home. Frequently he has burned incense and the odor has permeated my room and has sickened me. The more I complained the more was burned.

"On one occasion recently he dressed up in flaming red with some black trimmings to represent the devil. This was done late at night after we had all gone to bed.

"Then he made weird and uncanny noises in the kitchen. I was ill in bed but got up to investigate. The sight of my husband dressed in this queer garb frightened me and I ran out of the house clad only in my night robe. He followed me making unearthly noises.

"At every step he would catch hold of my garment and rip out a piece. When I finally fell exhausted and hysterical in a neighbor's house I was almost nude."

On another occasion Mrs. Blaes says her husband erected a throne in her bedroom and dressed as the devil made her bow down and worship him. He burnt red fire she adds, and screeched like a fiend.

Is Hard for Clerks in Banks To Marry

A clerk in a London bank was discharged because he married on a salary of $700 a year. Had he waited until he received $750 he would have received the congratulations of the bank officials. Or if he could have shown that his bride had an income of $50 a year, thereby bringing the total income up to the marrying limit of $750, congratulations likewise would have been in order. Banks in many parts of the world meddle in the romantic affairs of their clerks. Molson's Bank in Ottowa has just decreed that no clerk shall marry until his salary is $1200 a year. The Bank of New Zealand enforces the rule that a clerk cannot marry under $1000. In Egypt and in South Africa bank clerks must keep from popping the question until they reach $1250 a year while the Bank of Montreal frowns on all lovemaking and marriage until the clerk is earning $1500.

MAMMA'S JEWELS Given to His Sweetheart

Mrs. William W[illegible] reported to the police that a diamond brooch and several rings had been stolen from her home and she offered a reward for their return. Mrs. Wood made the discovery this morning that her seven year old son had given the jewels to his six year old sweetheart [illegible] decked [illegible] in the most gaudy fashion.

All the jewels were recovered save one diamond ring which the biggest dolly of the bunch had had tied around her neck. The little doll mother and child sweetheart objected to giving this up.

"I bought this off mamma, I bought it," sobbed the little one. "I gived him four [illegible] for it."

Mrs. Wood secured several dozen dogwood berries and with the usurious rate of interest bought her ring back.

LEAVES VALUABLE GEMS

In Charge of Unknown Girl; Finally Recovers Them

ATLANTIC CITY.—It's really marvelous the simple faith some of the visitors have in the honesty of chance acquaintances here.

An instance in point was displayed the other day when Mrs. A. C. Roberts of Washington, who was afraid to leave her jewels and trinkets in her hotel, took them to the beach in a bag and left the latter in the care of a girl whom she had never seen before.

Mrs. Roberts left her [illegible] in her bathing suit. She would have been more calm at this moment had she intrusted her valuables to the clerk. But she was afraid that some one might enter the rooms during her absence and carry away the gems. So she carried them with her to the beach. After having strolled along for some time she could not resist the temptation to enter the surf. But that bag of valuables. What was she to do with it. Certainly she could not leave it by its lonesome on the [illegible]. So she approached an honest looking girl who was languidly lolling in the sand and asked her to watch over the bag.

The girl willingly proffered her vigilance and Mrs. Roberts went into the briny.

But shortly after a dapper young fellow strolled along, made goo goo eyes at the girl and the pair were soon lost in idle chatter. Forgetting her trust the watcher wandered from the spot. Then another stroller spied the grip and seeing no one near it grew curious. He even went so far as to pluck it from the sand and examine its contents. To his amazement the first thing he saw was some glittering gems consisting of pearls, emeralds, rubies and other precious stones set in unique form. A handkerchief which had the appearance of being filled with other jewels was opened and a roll of bills of the yellow back denomination were discovered. The finder, a reputable citizen of the resort, could scarcely believe his eyesight. He had found a gold mine without having to go prospecting.

An envious individual who had been watching the proceedings came up and demanded that he give up the treasure trove. "By what authority?" he asked. "It belongs to me," was the reply.

"Well, you'll have to show me," responded the finder. The other person was nonplussed for an answer, but still insisted that the grip belonged to him. The finder, who declined to give his name for various reasons, declared that he would keep the valuables until the owner called for them.

At this exciting moment Mrs. Roberts made her appearance and in a somewhat hysterical voice demanded that the grip be given to her. She was asked to describe the contents, which she did so accurately that the finder, showing his loyalty, handed over the prize without further ado. Mrs. Roberts returned to her hotel a wiser woman and has decided that hereafter she will intrust her valuables to the gentlemanly clerk instead of a chance acquaintance on the beach.

Another foolish woman took a camera to the beach with her while she intrusted it to a chance acquaintance while she flirted with the breakers. When she returned the keeper had disappeared. Result, an advertisement in the local paper asking for the return of the machine.

CLAIMS FLOOD LOOTED ESTATE

W. Y. Cirode's Widow Declares Ex-Official Kept or Destroyed Valuable Bonds

Judge Ogden has made an order in the probate department of the Superior Court citing A. J. Flood, former clerk in the office of the public administrator to appear before him at 10 o'clock on the morning of September 21 and render a full account of any real or personal property or papers belonging to the estate of the late William Y. Cirode which came into his possession in trust for George Gray as administrator of the estate.

This order is in conformity with a petition filed by Dr. Crittenden Van Wyck of San Francisco as administrator who reopened the estate on behalf of the widow of Cirode after Ex-Public Administrator Gray had closed it up on the ground that the latter official did not account for all the holdings of the estate and therefore did not properly close it.

PAPERS TAKEN IS CHARGE

Cirode died intestate in this city on the twelfth day of last January and Gray obtained letters of administration. Flood representing Gray went to the room in which Cirode died and it is alleged took possession of and destroyed or otherwise disposed of all the private papers found there belonging to the deceased among which it is claimed by the widow were bonds representing large holdings in oil wells in Southern California. The only property that Administrator Gray accounted for in his report to the court on the appraisement of the estate was a deposit of $216.12 with the German Savings and Loan Society which he administered. Then upon his application the court discharged him from the trust.

Not satisfied with this termination of the estate the widow placed the matter in the hands of a San Francisco attorney informing him about the missing bonds and upon his showing to Judge Ogden the latter reopened the estate and [illegible] the present administrator in charge. Dr. Van Wyck is now trying to get some clue to the alleged missing bonds and it is to assist him in this quest that Flood must go into court and tell what papers and other effects he found in the room in which Cirode died [illegible] account for them to Administrator Gray and what disposition [illegible] made of them.

STEEL WORKERS AGAIN ON STRIKE

3000 Foreigners Quit and Several Hundred Americans Follow Suit

PITTSBURG Sept 15.—By 10 o'clock the strike became general. All of the workmen numbering more than 5000 had left the plant and all departments were closed.

PITTSBURG Sept 15.—A new strike was instituted at the Pressed Steel Car Works at McKees Rocks [illegible] by 3000 foreigners who refused to work unless the bosses and subbosses of the plant were discharged.

The strike it is said is not organized but it caused much excitement in and about Schoenville.

[illegible] deputy sheriffs are still on duty at the works. Most of the American workmen went to work as usual but later several hundred of them quit. The absence of the foreigners they said necessitated their coming out.

The main grievance it is said is the employment of a large number of men imported during the late strike in the capacity of bosses and sub-bosses. The men claim one of the agreements by which the last trouble was settled was that all of the imported men should be discharged.

OAKLAND TRACTION DONATES $5000

Many Subscriptions Coming Into Fund For Oakland Day in Portola Week

"Five thousand dollars has been subscribed towards the fund of Oakland day in Portola week by the Oakland Traction Company" was the announcement made by M. J. Laymance at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon.

He declared that the total amount of $25,000 required for purchase of prizes for auto races was almost in sight.

It was voted to establish in conjunction with the Alameda county commissioners a State bureau of information at the Auxiliary State Fair to be held in Idora Park beginning next Saturday. Telegrams and letters will be forwarded to Chambers of Commerce in various sections of the State asking that they send literature to the Auxiliary State Fair and if possible a man to attend to distribution of same, but if not the committee from the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and the Alameda County Exposition Commission will see that it is distributed.

This is an innovation at State fairs and will give visitors an opportunity of securing literature from every portion of the State. A committee to represent the Chamber of Commerce in making arrangements and distributing literature will consist of W. J. Laymance, E. B. Bull, J. Tyrell and C. M. Wood.

TRAINMEN'S CONVENTION

It was decided to invite the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to hold their convention in 1912 in Oakland.

The matter of having Oakland represented in the Portola parade was discussed and referred to the special advertising committee of the chamber with power to act. A prize of $10 will be awarded for the best design of a float to be accepted by the committee.

"NEVER AGAIN," VOW THREE GIRLS

Court Orders Women to Take Temperance Pledge Before Minister

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 15.—"Never again" said three pretty young women in Judge Shortall's police court this morning. "I solemnly swear never to take another drink" they all chimed together.

"I'll let you go this time but you must go out and take the pledge before a minister of the gospel" closed the court as he continued the matter until tomorrow.

OVERCOME BY HEAT

May Rower of 2517 Mission street, May Collins of 411 Brazil street and Hazel Brown address unknown but all employed in a downtown department store took a half holiday yesterday on account of the heat.

They started out to the Cliff House to go in wading but stopped first at the Victor roadhouse to partake of refreshments. Several times they journeyed between the beach and the resort and at length met a group of young men, who invited them for a joy ride.

NEVER AGAIN

More liquor was partaken of and when they finally left the roadhouse two of them, May Rower and May Collins began to josh with a policeman they encountered. Both were quickly arrested for intoxication and were hailed into court today in consequence. Hazel Brown accompanied them and they promised the judge that they'd never do it again but he insisted on the temperance pledge.

GALVES, BAIL RAISED, LANGUISHES IN PRISON

ALAMEDA Sept 15.—With his bail raised from $250 to $1000 by Superior Judge Everett J. Brown Fernandez O. Galves is languishing in the county jail unable to raise this amount.

Police Judge R. B. Tappan held Galves to answer to the Superior Court recently on a charge of failure to provide for his wife and minor child.

The family troubles of Galves who was formerly in the employ of the Southern Pacific company as a gateman but who was discharged for intoxication have been aired in the police court along with a battery charge preferred against him by Claude N. Berry whose wife's affections Galves is accused of alienating.

In a sensational cross complaint Berry has named Galves as the affinity of his wife, a Southern woman who recently evaded an injunction order of the court and fled to Kentucky with her child.

Galves was arraigned yesterday by Judge Brown who raised his bail.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TO RETURN HOME SOON

PARIS Sept 15.—Contrary to published reports Mrs. Roosevelt will not remain in Europe until her husband returns from Africa.

Mrs. Roosevelt will leave Paris with her children today, going to Switzerland for a short tour, thence to Italy and sailing from Naples or Genoa in a few weeks for America. It is asserted that this has been the plan all the while to the Roosevelt family but a contrary impression was general.

Next March Mrs. Roosevelt will return to Europe probably alone to meet her husband and will remain with him while he is in Europe. Mrs. Roosevelt and her children are delighted with their stay in France. All are in excellent health.

CLEARING HOUSE CAMPAIGN GOES ON

Appointment of Examiners as Advocated by Bankers

ADVANTAGES OF PLAN SHOWN AT CONVENTION

Exaction of Banking Laws in Various States to Protect Institutions

CHICAGO Sept 15.—Two important divisions of the American Bankers Association—the trust company section and the clearing house section—met today in place of a session of the main convention.

At the clearing house section meeting the report of the secretary of this branch of the American Bankers Association which is carrying on a vigorous campaign advocating the appointment of clearing house examiners was read.

The advantages of this plan" the report ran "have been clearly set forth in various ways. It is conceded that the adoption of the plan would put banking on a higher plane and would be of lasting benefit to the public."

PLAN UNIFORM METHOD

Clearing house cities in which examiners are now in vogue are as follows: Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo. The section has now under consideration the working out of a plan for a uniform method of reporting the weekly exchanges by all the associations of the country and feel confident some system of accounting may be evolved which will be generally put into force. The section also has started to do all in its power to suppress the business known as note kiting by giving publicity to this business carried on by so called brokers.

ERA OF PROSPERITY

Trenchant paragraphs from the address of Edward J. Pierce, president of the Audit Company of New York held the attention of the trust company section.

In all the figures which have been summarized said Mr. Pierce there is none more satisfactory nor more convincing of the fact that panic conditions have been superseded by an era of prosperity than to know that with only a slight increase in the number of trust companies the total deposits for 1909 have reached the important total of $3,167,000,000 an increase of $674,000,000 for the year or 22 per cent and an increase of $1,2[illegible]6,000,000 for the five years, which is an increase of 51 per cent.

STATES AID BY LAWS

The committee on protective laws reported to the trust company section that its efforts to protect the word "trust" to provide for efficient state supervision and to place in the category of crime the circulation of false reports of a bank's condition have been started. Colorado, Connecticut, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Montana, New York, New Jersey, Oregon, Rhode Island, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming have already enacted suitable legislation. Florida also protects more or less adequately the word "bank." The report adds that California, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania have enacted laws based on recommendations of the trust company section. Banks of Arkansas, North Carolina and North Dakota reported that special legislation at this time was not advisable.

The trust company interests in Georgia, Michigan, New Mexico and South Dakota are assured by the committee that action will be taken on our measures at the next session of their respective legislatures.

One territory alone—of all the list—rejected the bill prepared by the committee—Arizona.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The National Association of Supervisors of State Banks elected [illegible] Williams of New York president; [illegible] M. Appell, Illinois, first vice president; M. J. Mahundr[illegible] Washington, second vice president; H. M. Seyman [illegible] third vice president; J. M. [illegible] South Dakota, chairman of the executive committee, and Giles L. Wilson, South Carolina, secretary and treasurer.

BOARD OF EDUCATION FIXES STATE FAIR DAY

Public Schools of Oakland to Have Vacation So Pupils May Attend California's Exhibition at Idora Park.

Here are some of the important matters which came before the Board of Education last night:

Friday, September 24, is declared State Fair day in all the public schools of Oakland and vacations are granted to the pupils of the high, grammar and primary classes.

Cooking and manual training classes to maintain exhibit at Idora Park during the two weeks of the State Fair.

Mothers Club's request to erect classroom on lot of Washington School for kindergarten, to be maintained at own cost and expense, was granted.

Grant School to have letters displaying name and purpose so as to prevent future error of being mistaken for a hospital.

Basketballs to be provided for Emerson School.

Moot Court Association denied use of auditorium of Chabot Observatory.

Piedmont School to be renamed according to vote of teachers and pupils.

Y. W. C. A. granted use of Oakland High School gymnasium four evenings in the week pending the completion of building for organization.

Cadet armory building, at rental of $30 per month, four days a week, favorably considered for use of physical culture classes of Polytechnic High School.

Bernard P. Miller and J. A. Filcher appeared before the Board of Education last evening and urged the co-operation of the schools in aiding the State Fair to be held at Idora Park a success. Mr. Miller was eloquent and Mr. Filcher explained the educational advantages that attended such exhibitions.

Mr. Miller said to the school children the price of admission on any day set apart by the Board of Education would be cut down from 25 cents to seven cents and the concession ... them had reduced prices to one and two cents or ten cents to all.

Mr. Filcher told of educational displays and this brought Superintendent of Schools J. A. McClymonds into the ring with the suggestion:

"We ought to have our cooking classes and manual training classes out there and let the public see what they are doing."

"Glad to have you promptly respond," ... Miller and Filcher in unison.

"You can have the refreshment room in the skating pavilion," continued Miller enthusiastically. "I will have it all decorated, run in lights and pipe the gas in at once."

"Ahem," said School Director Weil of the Finance Committee cautiously. "How much will this all cost?"

IT'S ALL FREE!

"Not a cent. It's yours for nothing and I'd ... have you," reported Miller.

"This looks good to us," said President Hannaford bowing in the direction of his colleagues.

Dr. Wood acquiesced and so did the others.

There was a preliminary skirmish as to fixing the happy day for vacation to let the pupils visit the State Fair. It was finally decided that Friday, September 24 would fit the program.

WILL SHOW AT FAIR

The Manual Training Committee consisting of Dr. Wood, Charles H. O'Connor and Samuel A. Wentworth was empowered to arrange for the cooking and manual training class exhibit at the Fair.

Then the Board got down to routine business. The application for the Moot Court association for the use of the Chabot observatory auditorium once a week to practice at holding trials and determining what was mandatory and discretionary did not meet with favor. It was denied.

The request of the Mothers Club to be given permission to build a class room on the Washington School grounds and maintain a kindergarten class at their own expense was granted without dissent.

Applications of Lulu Cline for position as teacher of music and George D. Walton as instructor in evening schools were filed.

Louise D. Tennant, a teacher in the department, was granted leave of absence until January 1st on account of ill health.

H. Olsen of 1409 Grove street made application for place as janitor. Filed.

The request of the Alliance Francais to have the use of certain class rooms in which to give instruction in French was granted.

BALLOTING FOR SCHOOL NAME

The renaming of Piedmont school was a problem carried over from the last meeting. There is a district school outside of the municipal boundaries that goes by the same designation. The small boys up there take advantage of the fact by invariably getting into the wrong school, are thrown out and play hill.

The members present were undecided what to call it. Dr. Wood suggested submitting it to a plebiscite. That shifted the burden upon the teachers and pupil and gave the directors a chance to wrestle with the Board of Supervisors on raising the tax levy without being handicapped by hunting up names.

It was decided to put more lights in the Clawson school.

Director Crandall called attention to the need for chiseling the name of the Grant school on the front of it and in a conspicuous place. He stated that an ambulance drove up there the other day and the driver rushed up in breathless haste and asked the principal for Ward 13.

"It looks just like a hospital," said Mr. Crandall.

Director O'Connor agreed with him. "It needs chairs too," he added. "The children out there are sitting around on stool. The walls need furnishing and it ought to be attended to."

The committee was authorized to have the name chiseled in so as to warn Red Cross poachers and the other requirements will be met as soon as an inventory is made out as to what is wanted.

MUST FAVOR ATHLETICS

The request of Emerson school for four basket balls was granted. Dr. Wood made a feeble protest and asked: "Where is this all going to end?"

He was overruled by the majority and was ... carried away by Superintendent McClymonds' eloquent plea in favor of promoting athletics that the doctor voted with his colleagues when the requisition was ordered.

"We must give the pupils a chance," said McClymonds. "Lots of them cannot afford to pay for such things. I believe in promoting school athletics. We have made a big mistake at the high school by developing athletes instead of strong men and women. If we are to encourage such activities and they are essential we must furnish the tools."

The basket ball requisition went through.

Repairs to the furnaces in the Franklin school were demanded, but as they are of the oil burner type Dr. Wood thought they ought to be looked into for safety.

"These oil heaters form explosive gas," said the doctor. "That is what caused the explosion at the baths in San Francisco the other day and not the boiler, at least that is what I read and I think.

"We ought to examine into this thing very carefully before we jeopardize the lives of any of the children under our care."

The question of repairs was taken under advisement.

COMPLICATIONS OF A HORSE

Then came up a knotty problem vexed with legal and veterinary lore that concerned a horse. Heretofore it has been driven by Superintendent McClymonds but now it is in a stall eating its head off at the rate of $18 per month. It is lame and cannot be used.

"What will we do with it?" queried Mr. Evans.

"Better sell it and get rid of it," interposed Mr. O'Conner.

"That would be unconstitutional," declared President Hannaford.

"That's right," chimed in McClymonds. "We can't sell the horse without first having it inspected by the veterinary, then condemned, then order its sale and publish the notice in the papers and hold an auction."

"What's the horse worth?" gasped Mr. Evans.

"About $20," replied McClymonds.

"And what will it cost to go through all that program to get rid of it?" asked Mr. O'Connor.

ACCORDING TO LAW

"I don't know," doubtfully replied President Hannaford as he fingered rather dubiously the estimate of $114,000 that the Supervisors were asked to provide. "Let the horse run away and forget to provide to pull the schools along."

"You—you—don't mean we—ah—can't go after it," chimed in Dr. Emerson.

"It's got a bad foot and can't," said McClymonds.

"And things are not done that way," rebuked Director Weil of the judiciary committee. "We must proceed according to law."

"Give him away—give him away," suggested Mr. Crandall, rubbing his hands gleefully at this happy solution of the horse problem.

"Not while the grand jury's in session," sternly protested Mr. Weil. "Besides it's not a him. It's a mare," he corrected.

"Well, what on earth are we to do?" gasped Dr. Emerson.

"Refer it to the judiciary committee," said President Hannaford and amid the vehement protests of Mr. Weil the board adjourned.

Will Play Whist For Benefit of Patriotic Order

MRS HENRY STARBUCK, Chairman of Whist Party Committee.

For the benefit of the Patriotic Association of California a whist party will be given tonight at the home of Mrs. Henry Starbuck at 116 Lake street. The proceeds derived from the affair will be turned into the fund of the association which has for its main object the promotion of patriotism in the schools.

The State association is affiliated with the national which has its head quarters in Washington. Mr. Simmons, one of the custom house inspectors is the president and organizer of the State association. It is composed of past presidents, presidents, department and patriotic instructors of the Women's Relief Corps and the drum corps.

THROWS OPEN HOME

Mrs. Starbuck, past president of Lyon Corps, is chairman of the whist party committee. She first conceived the idea of raising money to carry on the noble work of the association by throwing the doors of the palatial Lakeside home open to the public for the good of the organization which she has been identified with since it was instituted in California. Mrs. Starbuck is distinguished for her philanthropy and hospitality. Aside from her charitable efforts in the Women's Relief Corps she has taken an active part in other societies which benefit humanity. She is a member of Oakland Chapter O. E. S. Isis which is the ladies of the Shrine Amaranth auxiliary to the Knights Templar.

IN NEED OF FUNDS

Preparations are being made for 100 members and friends of the association. The society is in need of funds to purchase flags for the schools and to carry on patriotic work. It is one of the only institutions of its kind which seeks to save the flag from desecration.

The charming hostess of the evening will be assisted by her daughter, Miss Chrystal Lee Starbuck, Mrs. May Foster, past department instructor, and Mrs. Nellie Martin.

To arouse the enthusiasm of the players prizes will be awarded and during the evening refreshments will be served.

GILLETT OPPOSES STATE DIVISION

South Would Vote it Down, Even if Such a Move Were Possible

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 15.—The meeting in Los Angeles of business men and the forming of the South California State League with the direct view of dividing the State is looked upon by Governor Gillett as a movement which will fail.

The Governor believes that there is absolutely no means by which State division can be brought about. He says that even if by general vote in the south it would be possible to sever their connection with the northern half the majority would not support the movement.

NO PROVISION

There is no allowance in the State Constitution which allows the State to be divided. In the United States Constitution there is no provision allowing a State after it has been admitted into the Union to be split. Even if the laws did allow such a change it would have to go through the Senate. The West is so ... represented in the Senate now that the Eastern members would not consider allowing another State to enter. That is why Arizona and New Mexico have not been admitted as States.

WHAT STATE NEEDS

"What this whole State needs more than anything else is the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment No. 1. With this in operation the counties will be able to levy their own assessments independent of any other district. The State will derive its support from franchised property. It has been shown by expert figuring that the money the State will get from these properties together with the interests from bank loans and licenses will be sufficient.

The constitutional amendment was defeated the first time it was put before the public. The Governor attributes this to the opposition of the banking institutions and the unfamiliarity of the people with its provisions. At the next State election it will come up for its second consideration and the agitation in the South he believes will directly result in its passage.

REGISTRATION FEE TO BE INCREASED 2 CENTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has signed an order increasing the fee for the registration of mail from 8 to 10 cents to take effect November 1, 1909.

The order also increases the maximum indemnity paid to the owner of a lost or rifled registered letter from $25 to $50, thus continuing the department's liability for valuable articles intrusted to its registry branch.

This addition insurance of $25 for 2 cents is granted at a much lower rate than is offered for a similar amount by any private concern.

PEARY NOT TO LEAVE FOR SEVERAL DAYS

Won't Arrive at Sydney Until the End of This Week

SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Robert E. Peary received today the following telegram from her husband at Battle Harbor, Labrador:

Cannot arrive before end of week.

BATTLE HARBOR, Labrador, Sept. 15, via wireless to Cape Ray, N. F.—Commander Robert E. Peary, who is still at Battle Harbor on board the steamer Roosevelt conversed further today with the Associated Press representative regarding his journey to the North Pole. He spoke particularly of the flags he raised on the pole and the records he left there and touched again upon some of the assertions credited to Dr. Frederick A. Cook.

PRESENT FROM WIFE

Commander Peary said when he reached the Pole the first flag thrown to the breeze was a silken American emblem presented to him by his wife fifteen years ago. He had carried this flag on every one of his expeditions to the north, leaving a piece of it at the highest point he had attained. The last remnants were raised and left at the Pole.

The explorer then raised the navy ensign, the flag of the Navy League, then the flag of the Chi Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and finally a flag of peace. Tent poles and snow lances were used as flag staffs and when all had been raised the commander took several photographs of the group.

IN WATER-TIGHT BOX

After this ceremony Peary enclosed records of his trip and other documents and personal papers in a box and buried it in the ice. The documents were placed in watertight coverings and the box itself was watertight so it would float if shifting or melting ice brought it to water. Commander Peary has not developed the films he took at the Pole.

Referring to the weather conditions at the apex of the world Commander Peary said he found nothing like the revolving wind referred to by Antarctic explorers. The weather conditions varied from time to time although there was probably considerable uniformity. He would not say whether or not he found currents at the Pole.

DENIES CHARGES

Commander Peary received today a cablegram asking him to make a statement regarding a report from a Danish source to the effect that he had posted a notice on the Greenland coast to the effect that Dr. Cook was dead, making this notice a pretext for the appropriation of Dr. Cook's supplies. The explorer said that he knew nothing of this that it evidently was a newspaper publication. He expects to be quoted erroneously in the press as making a variety of statements, he says.

Commander Peary has said already all that he intends to say regarding Dr. Cook. His statement dictated to the Associated Press covers this subject fully for the present, he asserts.

NO QUAKES AT POLE

Peary did not see the beginning or the ending of the polar eclipse, the part he did see was obscured by clouds. He said he had experienced no earthquakes in the polar regions, explaining at the same time that it would have been difficult to recognize such occurrences because of the movement of the ice and the continual grinding noise resulting therefrom.

The Roosevelt has on board a valuable collection of mineral and geological samples and specimens of northern bird, plant and animal life for the American Museum of Natural History.

REGISTERED AS WIFE, BUT ISN'T AFFINITY

O Dear No, Mrs. Midge Molster Hasn't Even Kissed H. E. Bennett

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Midge Molster, the alleged affinity of Harper E. Bennett on trial for poisoning his wife, added her denials to those of the prisoner at the bar when she took the stand in his behalf in Judge Willis' court today.

She admitted that she was registered as his wife at a room in one rooming house and passed as his sister at another, that she traveled with him by steamboat to San Diego and that she lived in a hotel with him and his children in that city and later occupied a five-room cottage with him there.

ADMISSIONS STOP

But there Mrs. Molster's admissions stopped.

She denied that she was Bennett's affinity. She denied with emphasis and a stamp of her foot that she had ever kissed Bennett. Once during her testimony Mrs. Molster complained to the court that her husband, who was seated within the railing, was "making gestures at me and I was afraid of him."

The court called Molster to account but he denied that he was making any motions towards his wife. The court warned him against such an occurrence.

HAS LEFT HUSBAND

Mrs. Molster testified that she left her husband because of his cruelty towards her.

Dr. A. C. Pratt, who was called during the fatal illness of Mrs. Bennett, testified that the strychnine which was found in the stomach of the dead woman may have come from the medical pellets containing strychnine which she had been taking for some time.

CHICAGO GRAFTER HAS ARRAY OF WITNESSES

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—When the defense in the "graft" trial of Police Inspector Edward McCann was begun today an imposing array of character witnesses was present.

"We will show," said Judge Neely for the defense, "that the defendant, when he took charge of the Desplaines street district was ordered by his superiors to curtail the vice of the district. He put the lid down with a severity never known before and a howl went up. This conspiracy was formed to put away the inspector on evidence that would make Ananais blush. The inspector stopped the sale of liquor in all disorderly houses and those who suffered thereby arose against him. Inmates of these houses were fined an aggregate of $59,000, a record unequaled anywhere."

SOLD FURNITURE AND FLED, WIFE COMPLAINS

Alleging that in September 1908 her husband sold all of the household furniture and decamped to St. Paul, Minn., with the proceeds leaving her destitute, Madeline Turner brought suit in the Superior Court today for a divorce from J. B. Turner on the ground of extreme cruelty. Plaintiff alleges that about the time Turner disappeared he purchased a revolver and threatened to kill her with it, that he threatened to murder her on many other occasions and that one day he attacked her with a razor telling her he would cut her heart out.

The wife also charges that Turner once beat her so badly as to disable her for several days and handled her so roughly that her shoulder was dislocated and her wrist sprained.

CLASSIFIED ADS IN THE TRIBUNE PAY BIG RETURNS FOR MONEY INVESTED.

ADVANCE FREIGHT ON CITRUS FRUITS

$9,000,000 to Be Taken From Pockets of Orange and Lemon Growers

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 15.—Effective November 1st, the transcontinental railroads will increase the freight on lemons from California to Eastern points from $1 to $1.15 per hundred pounds. It is further reported that the rate on oranges will be increased from $1.15 to $1.25 per hundred pounds.

This dual announcement has tended to arouse intense feeling among the growers who promise to make a bitter contest before the Interstate Commerce Commission. By the increased lemon rate the railroads appropriate the first benefits of the new tariff protection on lemons, the grower who figured that the new schedule would give him 50 cents additional, being obliged to surrender 15 cents of that for freight. In fact, he must pay the increased rate whether or not the tariff obtains him an increase.

It is declared that the higher freight on lemons means $2,000,000 loss to the growers and the increased rate on oranges will take $7,000,000 from the grower.

Murderer Found After 16 Years

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 15.—When Francisco Arivizo was being arraigned on a charge of murder in the township court this morning he was recognized by Chief of Police Wilson as the slayer of a woman named Kruis in a dance hall here sixteen years ago. At that time Arivizo escaped and was never located until this morning. If not convicted on the present charge of killing a companion at Escondido a few months ago he will be tried for the sixteen year old crime.

Two Society Women Shot; One Is Killed

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Julius Tripp was shot and killed this afternoon in an apartment at 569 Prairie avenue, a fashionable residence section, and another woman believed to be her sister in law was seriously wounded. It is reported that the shooting followed a quarrel.

TAFT IS OPPOSED TO SUFFRAGE RESTRICTIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Taft has placed himself on record in a letter to a local newspaper as being opposed to suffrage restrictions intended to discriminate against the negro race. In answer to a letter asking for his opinion concerning the franchise amendment to the Maryland constitution which is proposed by the Democratic party in Maryland the President says:

"It is deliberately drawn to impose educational and other qualifications for the suffrage upon negroes and to exempt everybody else from such qualification.

"This is gross injustice and is a violation of the spirit of the fifteenth amendment. It ought to be voted down by everyone, Democrat or Republican, who is in favor of a square deal."

The Steinway Hope: Why Defer It?

The man who buys any other piano always hopes it may be as good as the STEINWAY.

This hope has been fostered by the "salestalk" of the man who sold him the other kind. Later with the realization that it isn't as good come disappointment and vexation of spirit.

The man who has learned wisdom he gets a STEINWAY; but the wiser course is to get a STEINWAY in the first place.

Anybody of moderate means may become the owner of one of these superb and inimitable instruments. The prices begin at $575 and easy terms may be arranged.

70 VOLUNTEERS IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

Sausalito Now Well Supplied With Water From Municipal Works

SAUSALITO, Sept. 15.—Now that the excitement of the recent celebration has subsided here, Mayor Jacques Thomas has announced that with the installation of the new $100,000 municipal water and distributing system Sausalito has also been equipped with a fire department and hydrants upon an elaborate scale.

Upon various levels in the town 160 fire hydrants have been installed and hose carts have been stationed at such intervals that in no case will it be necessary for the firemen to pull the cart up hill to connect with the water supply.

Besides four new hose carts the town has purchased 1400 feet of hose and will buy 500 feet more in a few days. A chemical engine and hook and ladder, besides other apparatus, has also been purchased and seventy volunteers are drilling on Water street every other night to perfect the department.

SALT WATER SYSTEM.

In addition to this protection there is a tank located in the center of the town containing 20,000 gallons of salt water, pumped from the bay. Mayor Thomas has also made it known along the waterfront that vessels desiring fresh water can buy it from the town at 65 cents per 1,000 gallons.

In the water distributing system there are nineteen miles of four to ten inch pipe. The storage system consists of five steel tanks with a total capacity of 1,400,000 gallons. The pumping plant for raising the water to the highest elevations in the town consists of two pumps having a capacity of 300 gallons each per minute.

Local citizens are not connecting with the municipal system as rapidly as was expected, but it is believed that it is only a question of time when it will be in use by all.

For The Thin and Scrawny

SAMOSE WILL MAKE YOU PLUMP AND ROSY, SAYS WISHART.

If you are getting thin, you are sick, although you may not know it. If you are losing weight steadily, there is something wrong that needs looking after. If you have always been thin it doesn't follow that you are sick, but you may not be healthy. You cannot be strong if you are thin.

Try then to be healthy and plump; it is not difficult if you know how.

The only way to increase the weight and gain health and flesh is by using Samose, the standard flesh-forming food and tissue builder. It mingles with the food you eat and is assimilated so that all the flesh forming and tissue building elements of the food are retained in the system. This explains the great value of Samose.

Weigh yourself before you begin using Samose. It will not cost you a cent unless it increases your weight and restores your health.

Y. M. C. A. FUND INCREASING RAPIDLY

Members Still Confident of Raising $100,000 in Eight Days

LUNCHEONS A FEATURE OF STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN

Subscribers Allowed to Make Donations in Five Instalments

BERKELEY, Sept. 15.—F. M. Smith of Oakland this morning telegraphed $2500 from Shelter Island, New York, for the Y. M. C. A. building fund of this city. This, with the subscriptions taken since yesterday noon, increased the total amount by $10,495. The grand total is now $60,556, and it has been pledged by 424 persons.

BERKELEY, Sept. 15.—With the passing of the $50,000 mark practically all of the big subscriptions towards the $100,000 fund for the new Y. M. C. A. building have been obtained. Almost all of the city officials and prominent business men have been canvassed and from now on the two committees of 100 each will devote their attention to the residents of this city.

Although it took half of the allotted time to raise $50,000, when pledges were the easiest to obtain, members of the committee are still confident that they will get all the required amount by Saturday evening, when the eight days they allowed themselves will expire. All are hustling east, west, south and north to round up all who desire to aid the worthy cause.

IN FIVE INSTALMENTS.

The number of $100 or more pledges has been surprising to even the most enthusiastic workers. All who have subscribed have been informed that it will not be necessary to pay in the money all at once and those who wish to may pay it in five instalments, as the money is needed for the construction of the building and furnishing it.

After work has been commenced on the new building it is the plan of the Y. M. C. A. to organize a vigorous campaign after members. The officers of the association feel that the membership at present is not commensurate with the size of the city. With the new building an assured fact, they will have much greater inducements to offer young men to join.

WILL HAVE MEMBERSHIP CONTEST.

Committees similar to the ones now canvassing for funds will be named and started after the youth of Berkeley. A friendly contest will be inaugurated in the work, such as in the fund campaign, and a certain number of members will be named as the objective point that must be attained.

One of the delightful features of the campaign for funds is the luncheons that is daily served to the workers at the Y. M. C. A. By agreement all gather around the big tables during the noon hour and the accomplishment of the last 24 hours is reported. Anecdotes are told about this or that effort to obtain a subscription. The method has been to approach a man with three cheeks filled out. One for $500 is always presented first. If this one fails to obtain a signature, one for $250 is presented and lastly one for $100.

The luncheons are served by the church women of Berkeley and have proved most appetizing. Early day the luncheon is in the hands of the women of one church, thus eight churches will have had charge of feeding the hungry workers.

Following was the record at noon yesterday:

After Four Years in Hawaii Returns to Visit Old Scenes

MRS. C. G. WHITE of Hai Ku, Hawaii.

BERKELEY, Sept. 15. — After an absence from this city of four years, Mrs. C. G. White, who was Miss Florence Fisk, arrived last Thursday from Hawaii for a two months' visit with her mother, Mrs. R. E. Fisk of 2616 Hoste street.

She was accompanied by her two children, Elizabeth, three years old, and Thomas Robert, five months old, and Mr. White. After seeing his family settled here Mr. White continued on to Cleveland, Ohio, for a visit with his parents.

Mrs. White, as Miss Fisk, was one of the most popular of Berkeley's younger set. She was a student in the University of California and a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority. Later she spent two years in the Hopkins Art school in San Francisco. Her marriage to White was one of the social events of the season and after a short honeymoon they settled in Hai Ku, Hawaii, where White has a pineapple plantation.

On the way from Honolulu aboard the steamship Lurline the Whites had a magnificent view of the armored cruiser fleet on its record breaking trip to Honolulu. The Lurline passed within half a mile of the fleet at about 5 o'clock in the morning and all the passengers were up to see the men-of-war.

MADDOX IS SUED FOR A DIVORCE

Action Follows Attempt to Storm Two Homes in Search of Wife

ALAMEDA, Sept. 15. — As a direct result of his attempt Friday night, to storm the homes of two women friends with whom he believed his wife was visiting, George P. Maddox is being sued for a divorce by his spouse, Matilda J. Maddox. The complaint was filed yesterday and alleges that Maddox is habitually intoxicated.

Mrs. Maddox asks for half of the community property, valued at $7250 and $65 a month alimony. It is probable that Maddox will not contest her action.

Mrs. Maddox goes fully into the affair of Friday night in her complaint. She declares that she had fled from her home because she could no longer tolerate the drunken habits of her husband, and that she had sought temporary refuge with Mrs. Thomas Wilson, 1906 Mulberry street.

POLICE CALLED IN.

At 6:30 o'clock Friday night Maddox went to the home of Mrs. C. Kues, 2309½ Santa Clara avenue and after parading around the hall, was forced to leave only by a call for the police. At 8 a. m. Maddox went to the home of Mrs. Wilson, where his wife was stopping. The police again were called.

On returning to the Wilson home at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, Maddox was arrested on charges of disturbing the peace, preferred by Mrs. Wilson. He was released on a cash bail of $75. His hearing came up before Police Judge Tappan yesterday morning and the man was released with a warning against causing further annoyance to his wife or her friends.

SHOWS GROWTH OF ORCHARD INDUSTRY

Prof. E. J. Wickson Submits Valuable Paper to American Pomological Society

PICKING AND PACKING OF FRUIT EXPLAINED

California Growers Have Learned Much About Handling Their Products

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Sept. 15.—An interesting paper was read before the American Pomological Society in session here by Prof. E. J. Wickson of the University of California. After referring to improvements in handling fruits for long distance shipments, as reported by G. Harold Powell of the United States department of agriculture, Professor Wickson went on to say:

GRADING AND PACKING.

"In all these activities several requirements have been demonstrated to be essential to success, viz: 1. Gathering, grading and packing the fruit without mechanical injury by hand, cutting tools or packing house machinery. 2. The quick removal of heat from fruit and car before starting on the long haul, and not trusting to icing in transit to accomplish this, as formerly.

"To meet the first requirement sharp points of clippers have been rounded, finger nails have been pared or picking gloves furnished, springs have been put under trucks, packing house machinery has been brought as nearly to a level as possible to prevent high drops and regular inspection of fruit undertaken in orchard and packing house to insure freedom from even minute cuts or bruises.

"To meet the second requirement precooling establishments are already provided at several shipping points, so that cars and contents are brought to a low temperature before moving."

DEVELOPMENT OF INDUSTRY.

Professor Wickson then describes at length the organization of fruit growers in California for profitable distribution of their products. He then says:

"A measure of the development of distant markets for California fruits and fruit products can be had from the records of shipments beyond state lines during the last decade, viz:

	1898—Tons.	1908—Tons.
Fresh deciduous fruits	69,732	161,274
Dried deciduous fruits	76,667	133,846
Oranges and lemons	189,658	899,094
Nuts	5,815	19,587
Raisins	47,796	29,001
Canned fruits	52,219	85,185
Total	432,857	879,787

"The raisin product has not experienced the reduction indicated. In 1908 some of the raisin shipments are included in the "dried fruit" entry, and the figures are not accurate. In the intervening years between 1898 and 1908 some of the entries were larger and others less. The contrasting years fairly show the increase in a decade, which is a little more than 87 per cent."

FIGHTING THE PESTS.

After discussing pests and methods of combatting their ravages in orchards, Professor Wickson says:

"Of plant diseases, the pear blight, both upon pears and apples, is our most formidable menace to the trees it attacks. During the last two years it has shown less virulence and more amenability to cutting out methods, and our Bartlett pear industry promises to endure longer than was indicated by experts when the blight was under full headway four years ago. This year's eastern shipments were large and profitable."

COMMENDS LAWS.

After commending the county horticultural law passed by the California legislature this year Professor Wickson concludes as follows:

"Cold storage in centers of population and at central shipping points is each year commanding more attention, and constant effort is made to reduce difficulties. Mr. Powell and his staff are giving due attention to this matter. Experiments are in progress by large handlers of oranges in the hope of always having supplies of well matured fruit to escape from the pressure of furnishing partly ripened fruit plucked too soon to meet the demand for extra early shipments. There is much promise in this line of effort."

WOMAN IS TREED BY ANGRY BRUIN

Mrs. J. H. Hartley Has Thrilling Experience While on Honeymoon Hunting Trip

BERKELEY, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Joseph H. Hartley of 2438 Webster street, this city, had a thrilling experience with a big black bear while on a honeymoon hunting trip in the northern part of the State. Mrs. Hartley, who was Miss Mae Baucher, was treed by the bruin and afterwards was a lone witness to the almost hand to hand struggle between her husband of a month and the animal.

When it was suggested, after their marriage here August 9, that the honeymoon trip consist of a hunting expedition, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, both of whom are devotees of rod and gun, were delighted, and right after the ceremony they joined a party of friends on Lake Keechelus in the Cascade mountains in Washington. They remained there two weeks, and in that time bagged three bears, including the one that put Mrs. Hartley to rout so unceremoniously.

DISTURBED BY BEAR.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley each had killed a bear, and one afternoon Mrs. Hartley laid down in their tent for a nap while her husband fished not far away. Suddenly she was disturbed and saw the animal in the doorway of their tent. As her rifle was not at hand she crawled out under the canvas and fled, with the bear in pursuit. Mrs. Hartley went up the nearest tree like a 10-year-old boy and called to her husband for help.

He came running, armed only with a revolver. He emptied all the cartridges in the bruin's body at close range without any apparent effect. Then he fled to the tent for his rifle. In the meantime Mrs. Hartley had climbed down and got to the tent for her rifle. Between them they finally killed the infuriated beast.

PAXTON WRIGHT A SUICIDE; CUT HIS THROAT

Leading Alameda Citizen, Temporarily Insane, Ends His Life at Sea

'THROW BODY OVERBOARD,' HE DIRECTS IN A NOTE

Leaves No Word for Family Explaining Causes Which Prompted Tragedy

ALAMEDA, Sept. 15. — Paxton Wright, business man, yachtman, and Alameda booster, whose death in mid-ocean was reported by wireless from the liner Alameda, Sunday, committed suicide.

The body was buried at sea under explicit instructions given in a brief note left by Wright and addressed to the discoverer of his body.

The suicide is believed to have been due to temporary insanity brought on as the result of an operation performed about three months ago, the wound of which never healed.

BORROWS ROOMMATE'S RAZOR

Wright killed himself with a razor, borrowed from his roommate, A. Carley, with the expressed purpose of shaving himself. His body was discovered by A. Keller, bath-room steward on the liner, but a few minutes after life had become extinct.

Wright was a director in the Alameda Chamber of Commerce, a director and former vice-president of the Encinal Yacht Club, and he was a member of the firm of Mayhew and Wright of San Francisco. He was identified with every movement started within the last year, designed to beautify and to increase the desirability of Alameda as a residence city. He was one of the most popular, and one of the most optimistic residents of this city.

SOUGHT TO BENEFIT HEALTH

It was for the benefit of his health and to conduct several business transactions that Wright went to the Hawaiian Islands, sailing from San Francisco on August 18. He was to have been gone for three months. On August 31, he wrote a letter to his wife and at that time appeared to be in excellent spirits and much improved in health.

Eight days later, and without a word to his family or to his friends and business associates, Wright set sail, presumably for home. The cause for his sudden change of plans has remained a mystery since his death was first announced.

Two days after sailing from Honolulu and during the early hours of September 10, the tragedy took place. From the evidence, Wright had carefully planned his death and left orders for his burial.

BURIED FOUR HOURS LATER

"Throw my body into the sea," were the only lines he left. The note was found pinned to the dead man's coat It was covered with blood and the writing was barely distinguishable. The body was discovered in the bath-room.

Keller arranged the bath for Wright about six o'clock in the morning. He then borrowed the razor from Carley, presumably to shave himself, and went into the room. Not a sound was heard from the apartment, which caused Keller to investigate, finding the body on the floor.

Four hours after Wright's death his body was draped with the American flag, slid from the deck of the liner into the sea. Dr. G. W. Clark read the burial rites.

THIEVES ROUTED BY ELMHURST RESIDENT

ELMHURST, Sept. 15.—Elmer Ballard, a resident of Boulevard avenue, reported this morning that thieves had attempted to force entrance into his residence last night and that he scared them away just after they had broken the lock on the back door.

It was shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, at Ballard says, his sleep was somewhat disturbed by hearing a noise in the rear of the house which sounded as though someone was trying to force an entrance. He jumped out of bed and grabbing a revolver ran to the back door. The burglar hearing his footsteps running through the house, became frightened and dashed down the back stairs, and ran down the boulevard towards Melrose.

The authorities are this morning looking for the marauders.

Strict training will commence very soon after that date, and this will be the last dance the men will be allowed to attend.

PERU AND BOLIVIA DECIDE ON PEACE

RIO JANEIRO, Sept. 15. The Journal of Commerce in its issue of yesterday said that telegrams from the Pacific coast announced that an agreement between the governments of Peru and Bolivia on the recent boundary dispute, which at one time threatened to plunge those states into war, had been or was on the point of being signed. The basis of the understanding is the decision in this dispute handed down by President Alcorta of Argentine on July 9 last, and this decision is in the terms of the new agreement, recognized by Bolivia.

PEABODY WILL LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

ALAMEDA, Sept. 15.—Frederick W. Peabody's lecture on "Eddyism" tomorrow night at the First Christian church is keenly anticipated by many Alamedans, anxious to hear the views of the man, who is intimately acquainted with the renowned Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy.

Peabody is a well known lawyer of Boston and became known to Mrs. Eddy in this capacity. Peabody is an onlooker at the Christian Science movement that is sweeping the country, and will speak tomorrow as an outsider. He is not a professor of the faith.

The Rev. H. K. Loken of the First Christian church said today that Peabody's views on the subject of Christian Science were unknown to him, but his lectures have been received with enthusiasm by the large churches in San Francisco where he has been lecturing. He will speak in Dreamland Rink in San Francisco this week.

A. W. S. APPROVES OF SINGING BY WOMEN

BERKELEY, Sept. 15.—At the A. W. S. meeting yesterday the executive committee brought in a report favoring singing by the women, and Belle Glockman '10 was appointed woman's song leader, while Jessie Loflin '10, Irene O'Connor '12 and Elizabeth Davis '13 have been named as assistants. Last term several of the prominent women students endeavored to get the girls to learn the songs and with this end in view some California song books were printed and distributed.

The A. W. S. constitution provides that 75 per cent of the dues paid by the women to the A. S. U. C. shall be turned over to the A. W. S. POWELL BEATS HARRISON IN TWO ROUNDS

REDHAIRED FIGHTER SHOWS CLASS IN BEATING MEXICAN

San Francisco Scrapper Never in Danger and Proves He Has Punch---Burns Wins From Ritchie in Great Battle

By EDDIE SMITH.

HOW did he do it? Where did he hit him? Was it on the jaw or in the stomach? Did you see how it was done? All these questions were asked on every side as the crowd filed out of the Piedmont Rink last night and it all came about through the sensational winning of Lew Powell over Kid Harrison in the second round of a scheduled ten-round main event at the Oakland Wheelmen show. When Powell and Harrison stepped into the ring the former had been made a strong favorite and the great majority expected to see him win, but few believed he could win in any such jig time as he did. Judging by the last two contests Lew has had, beating Hudson in five rounds and last night Harrison in two, it makes it appear as if the red-haired fighter has at last found the necessary punch to make him successful in his chosen line of work.

CLEAN CUT VICTORY.

The winning of the bout last night was the cleanest bit of work that Powell has done since he left the amateur ranks. In those days Lew was rated as a hitter, but after graduating into professional ranks he seemed to lose the sting. His punches formerly possessed. Last night he demonstrated that if he did lose it for a time that he has found it again for no scrapper in the business could have pulled off a prettier win over the tough Mr. Harrison than Powell did last night.

Now that Harrison has been beaten in two rounds, many will say that he is easy but this is not the case. The Kid is a tough fellow and he can beat many more than will beat him. Powell in the contest of last night seemed more confident and self reliant than ever before. He acted like a fighter of class waiting for the one chance to send in the knock out punch. When the opportunity did present itself the right hand traveled about six inches and connected squarely with the jaw of the on-coming Harrison, sending him to the floor with such a jar that he was a minute or so coming back from fairyland.

BIG BOOST FOR POWELL.

Powell in all the contests he has had [illegible] during the past two years has never [illegible] himself as he has in the last two. He always won his bouts, that is with very few exceptions, but there was nothing sensational about his work. Now that he has found the long lost punch the fans are very anxious to see him in action and as he is a very modest and likeable chap he is destined to become very popular if he continues along the paths of success.

The first round of the bout last night was mostly devoted to clinching in which Powell was a bit more to blame than Harrison. Harrison had been told by his seconds to fight Powell a rushing battle on the grounds that aggressiveness would get him some consideration even if he was slightly bested. Harrison had an idea that he might catch Powell with the hard right punch of which he is the possessor but with the exceptions of a few times when he missed badly, Powell gave him little chance to use it. At the start Powell gave evidence of his punch. He had Harrison in one of the corners of the ring and with lightning-like speed shot his left to the face with a sort of a downward and then drew it back and shot it to the body. Harrison's knees shook and Powell might have won right there but the men clinched and Harrison came out of the fray with head clear and ready to carry the fighting just the same as ever. Harrison tried and tried to [illegible] the body punches he landed in the clinches he was unable to connect with the improved Mr. Powell.

BLOW TO JAW DECIDES.

In the second round Harrison commenced the same as in the first round to rush the San Francisco fighter off his feet. Powell waited for the right chance to put in one telling punch and this happened when the men had broken from one clinch and Harrison dove in close for another. The men had parted at the order of Referee Levinson and as Harrison raised his left hand in an attempt to land a sort of an overhand left to the face, Powell stepped in with the straight right punch that carried every ounce of weight in his body behind it and the fight was over. Powell seemed to know that he had won right then and there for he walked about the ring never giving Harrison a glance.

Powell proved last night that he is ready for any sort of company in the light weight ranks and he will probably be seen in the ring next month in San Francisco if Charlie Lenard can find an opponent for him. He said after the contest that he realized the taking of the Harrison match was not a good one from a matchmaking standpoint but that he wanted to keep busy and that he would take anything he could get in order that he could keep fighting.

"Send for me that I want Johnnie Frayne or Battling Nelson, that's all I have to say," was the fighter's parting remarks.

The special event of the evening between Willie Ritchie and Frankie Burns proved an exceptionally exciting contest. Burns was given the decision which he was entitled to, but only by a close ruling, for Ritchie outboxed and outfought the winner several times during the contest. Burns was the aggressor at all times and proved the stronger and best all-around. Ritchie was the cleverer of the two and at times showed off to good advantage. The contest was one of those affairs where one man tried to close in for rough, hard fighting and the other tried all the time for clever boxing. Burns during the last round rushed and fought so hard that Ritchie, clever little fellow that he is, lost heart. At any rate Burns kept coming all the time and was entitled to the decision after as pretty a six round contest as one would care to see.

Burns was a little rough and at times used the heel of his glove and his elbow but there was nothing serious done and the fans enjoyed the exhibition. Sol Levinson refereed.

OTHER CONTESTS.

Fred Ward and Jim Foley floundered through six very bad rounds of boxing, in which the men held with one hand and hit with the other, and in the boxing gave exhibitions of how easy it is to miss an opponent. The contest was not good to look at or was it in the least exciting. Foley won in most every round and was given the decision. Jack Spears refereed this bout. In the preliminary the club management put a man into the ring to act as referee who had never before tried his hand at the game and whose knowledge of it did not warrant their taking a chance with him and he ruined what had been a very good contest by calling it a draw. Jack Byrnes was referee and Charlie Burns and Young Trenberth the gladiators.

Trenberth showed best in every round of the six fought, for he landed the punishing blows, the greater number and led equally as often, and how in the world the referee evened up matters in such a contest is beyond the imagination of any one. Burns had just one thing to his credit and that was an ability to take a beating. He was outscored at every turn and the demonstration of last night should be a lesson to the Wheelmen not to try men who have nothing to recommend them as referees. Byrnes is simply a "rubber" at pugilists. At his business he may be all right, but that lets him out entirely, for he knows little or nothing of the boxing game. The show was well handled aside from the first bout, and in all proved a good night's sport.

BRITT WANTS HURST TO REFEREE.

Willie Britt wants Tim Hurst, the baseball umpire and referee, to act as referee of the Langford-Ketchel bout at New York Friday night. The Fairmont Club has an official referee in Billy John and it may refuse to stand for the change. As the day for the contest approaches, the less the fans believe in the New York battle, and we feel that until after it is over the least said the better. Britt has not sent word to Coffroth as yet that he will hasten back to San Francisco, and until he does the Johnson bout hangs in the balance. Coffroth will stick to his agreement and promote the affair if Ketchel and Johnson agree on a date, and as Jack is not going to let that easy money get away from him he can be relied upon to agree to most anything.

* * *

Jimmy in the meantime is trying to get Wolgast and Frayne together and last night he had about succeeded. The weight is about all that remains to be settled and the purse for Wolgast. Jones, acting for the Milwaukee lad, wants a guarantee with the privilege of a percentage. Coffroth will give him whichever one he wants but will not give both.

* * *

Percy Cove, who has forsaken the bantam weight class for the larger men, is now located at Al White's St. Julian hotel, where he is being looked after by Molly McDonald. Cove is very anxious to meet Frankie Burns and if the Fruitvale club have not as yet made their matches for this month there is one fine main event for them if it can be made.

The Taft and Pennoyers tossers defeated the Dewey team of Upper Fruitvale Sunday in a fast and interesting game by the score of 7 to 5. The feature of the game was the batting of McGiffin, Taft and Pennoyer's fast third baseman.

Seminole Tossers Play Heeseman Walkovers for Championship Sunday

The Seminole club meet the Heeseman Walkover team at the State League grounds, Fifty-eighth and Grove streets, next Sunday morning. There will be some fun.

See Spengler serve the elusive sphere to the anxious members of the opposing team. Spengler has contracted to strike 'em all out, and to interest the ladies, not understanding the game, will pitch his famous invisible ball. Hassler will do the receiving, and if any of the audience are dissatisfied they may have their tickets exchanged for pink trading stamps. Baron Van Antwerp will cavort around the initial sack, where he may be seen to advantage by the fair sex. Baron is writing a book between innings on "How I Became a Pitcher." Fallehy, known along the waterfront as the human crab, will take care of the middle station, and for those who have not seen him perform, Fallehy will bat blindfolded and crawl backwards around the bases.

CALIFORNIA'S TY COBB.

Carlson, the terrible Swede, will be on exhibition at the difficult corner, but the children are requested not to feed him any chewing gum or peanuts during the game. Miller, the boxing instructor, will occupy short field, and try not to fight the balls. Adonis Clancy's station in the right meadow is to be inclosed so that the ladies will not steal him until after the game, when he will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. Saunders, the Ty Cobb of California, will make merry in the center garden, and promises to hit the ball so hard that whoever chases it will discover the South Pole without any difficulty.

Knitter English will recline in an armchair in left field, and during the dull moments will weave hats and peek-a-boo waists for the ladies in the grandstand. Bear Catcher "Long, Lankey, Smiling Hesse" will instruct the spectators (that is, the female ones,) on the fine points of the game, and will also announce when the agony is over.

DOWN TO BUSINESS.

This game between the Seminole club and Heeseman Walkovers will be the finals of three games they are playing, the Seminoles taking the first, a ten-inning game, the second game they played. Both are crack and fast teams.

They expect a large crowd, as there are over 1000 tickets out and much interest is taken on both sides.

LOSING extra inning games seems to be a kind of incubus the Athenians are unable to shake off. Times innumerable this season they have held their rivals at bay far beyond the alloted ninth frame at bay far beyond the allotted the occasions when they have left the field the possessors of the spoils. Yesterday afternoon they entered into mortal combat with the Sons of the North. For thirteen innings the fray was in doubt. Fans uncounted were of the opinion that the approaching night would claim the victory itself but had these bleacherites known the "bad habits" of the Oaks in the long drawn out exhibitions they would not have committed themselves as they did. Because the locals deadlocked the game in the eighth through the timely three bagger of Willie Hogan and because the following rounds were finished in short order that was no indication that the Reldyites would outgrow their reputation. They did not. Decidedly not. No one knows it better now too than these self same fans. In their mind's eye they can still see Ote Johnson's home run traveling over the left field fence. They can recall the heart broken expressions on the faces of the multitude of spectators as Oakland's hopes arose in smoke and her smiles soured into bitter frowns. It was one of the cleanest knockouts administered to a home team that any one would care to be an unwelcome onlooker.

UNEXPECTED KNOCKOUT.

Like most usual knockouts it came unexpectedly, like a thief at night. From the eighth inning on neither side was able to make a dent in the run column. Carson and Christian put on more steam as the fight grew warmer and batters were having the time of their life to get a glimpse of the initial sack. The fourteenth rolled in and it was Ote Johnson's turn at bat. In the previous innings he took a special liking to Christian and had pounded out two doubles and a single. The first ball thrown him just suited. He swung the old wagon tongue back as far as his arms would permit and then brought the war club smack against the ball. Crack! All eyes turned to the left field fence. The ball cleared the boards by several feet and Johnson trotted around the circuit. Upon arriving on the bench his first words were, "I had to hit it. It was such a nice one I could not resist the temptation." The little speech reached the ears of Bill Reidy, and he quickly retorted. "I wish my boys had a temptation like that. I tell them to fall for it every time and as deep as the law would permit."

In vain the Oaks tried to make the result of the contest turn another flip-flop and after a few seconds of endeaver all was over but the shouting. So jubilant were the Beavers in triumphing in the snappy contest that the news was flashed to Portland that Ote had knocked a homer before the fourteenth round was ever.

ATHENIANS SCORE FIRST.

Maggart pointed the way to victory when he started the run-getting in the first inning by singling and scoring on Carroll's hit and a double steal. In the second frame the score was equalized by a double by Johnson and triple by Ort.

Christian was responsible for Portland's second tally. After Carson had singled the Oakland spiralogist threw Cooney's bunt into the bleachers, allowing Carson to reach third. Christian then accomplished something which seldom runs in his veins. He got rattled and lost his control, walking Graney and Fisher, thereby forcing Carson across the plate.

After this fatal blunder inning after inning passed and neither side evidenced any strenuous desire to change the score, but finally in the eighth Hogan peppered out a hit over second and upon John Gladstone Graney, failing to handle it, reached third. Cameron very gracefully brought his captain home on a hit and run play.

* * *

Bill Reidy has signed Catcher Kinkel. The former Vernon backstop will not be called into service this year, but will report next spring.

* * *

The infielders and outfielders played a wonderful game yesterday. Hogan and Cutshaw cut off many hits and McKune figured in a pretty stop.

* * *

A home run, two two-baggers and a single is not a bad day's work with the war club. That's what Johnson did. It's little wonder the Beavers took Christian's scalp. Any one man who does Herculean labor of this nature ought to have the game. Johnson made two of Portland's three runs.

Leave it to Manager Hogan of the Vernon Club to spring something new. The latest is that he is ready to post a side bet of $1000 for a post series of five games with the Los Angeles team and in the advent of their refusal with the San Francisco or any other club in the coast league.

* * *

A squad of gamblers attempted to see the ball game yesterday, but Secretary MacFarlane says that he will carry the MacFarlane says that he will carry the fight against the bettors to the bitter end.

* * *

Manager McCreedie is very well satisfied with the results of the present trip from home. Up to date he says that his team has won 500 per cent of the games. He expects the boys to win two-thirds or even three-fourths of the exhibitions at home.

McCreedie will keep Graney in the outfield next season. He says that John Gladstone is a natural born sticker and too valuable a man to keep out in every game except the one in which he is to pitch.

FRESNO, Sept. 15.—One of the greatest games of the year was played yesterday on the local grounds between the home team and the Invaders. Moskiman and Schimpff were the opposing pitchers and neither one allowed a run until the twelfth inning. In that frame with two down and Campbell on second Joyce laced out a single, scoring the lone tally of the game.

The "medico" permitted but two hits and both of these were secured by Manager McDonough. Schimpff was touched up for a total of seven, but he scattered these in as many innings, except in the twelfth, when two bingles defeated him. The team work of the opposing sides was nothing short of marvelous, catches of the sensational being the order of the day.

Tribune Baseball League

Schedule of games for next Sunday, September 19th, is as follows:

At Freeman's Park, immediately after the Coast League game, 11:30 a. m.—Breuners vs. Heesemans. Second game, 1:30 p. m., Ziggs vs. Tribunes. Third game, 3:30 p. m., Morans vs. Reliance.

At California State League grounds at 57th and Grove streets, 2:30 p. m., Lehnhardts vs. Rutleys.

Attendance at Tribune League Games Increasing

A great deal of interest has been aroused in the Tribune Boys' League. The attendance is growing every Sunday and on all sides are heard favorable comments on the playing of the kids. Without doubt the cream of players in Alameda county is represented in the organization.

H. F. Drake of the Breuners, one of the promoters of the league, was unable to attend the meeting Monday night at the Reliance Club on account of illness. It is hoped that he will be all right soon, so he can see the game next Sunday morning at Freeman's Park between the Brueners and Heesemans.

E. Lehnhardt is tickled to death the way his team is keeping the lead in the league, and is confident of capturing the bunting.

Manager Brockhoff of the Heesemans is not at all satisfied at the playing of his boys Sunday, and is casting his eye about for new players so as to strengthen the line-up of his team.

Every day after school hours and in the evenings the Moran boys put in a half hour of practicing. The good results of the training were shown Sunday when they played like majors at Freeman's Park. Carroll is one of the hardest working leaders in the league, and at the same time one of the easiest to get along with. All "his boys" obey him to a dot.

Manager Keefer of the Reliance has had, perhaps, more difficulties than any other magnate in the league, and yet he is keeping up under it all and is still declaring that he will show the other teams how to play the game. He is looking around for material and has already gobbled up two classy players of the Vernon club. He can be reached by telephone, Piedmont 1849.

Any boy of good character is eligible who is under twenty-one years of age and weighs less than 118 pounds.

Giants of Baseball World To Play Former Coasters

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 15.—Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati National league club, received a letter today from President Morris O'Neill of the Western league, saying that he was arranging a schedule of postseason games between the Philadelphia-American league team and an all-star aggregation, many of whom will be former Pacific Coast players who have won distinction in the big leagues. They will play in the far west and on the Pacific Coast.

If the Philadelphia-American league team should win the championship, this postseason schedule will be delayed until the world's series is run off.

Otherwise the postseason series will start immediately at the close of the season.

BEALL SLUMPS IN HIS HITTING

Maggart's Batting Average Is .316; Lewis Picks Up 4 Points

Outfielder Beall has been slumping gradually but surely in his batting average, and now it has come to the pass where he has dropped below the .300 mark. While he still leads the old-timers, he is not the formidable rival of yore. From 305 he had sunk to the .296 station. Duffey Lewis has taken on four points, which brings him up to .289. Gandil, Johnson and Melchoir have strengthened their hold a bit, while Zelder has slumped to .281.

Of the new men Miller, Davis, Myers and Maggart are clubbing the ball with regularity. Miller's average is .405 and Maggart's .316. Cameron found the pitchers last week somewhat difficult and fell down to the .269 figure. Willie Hogan has picked up a few points while Catcher Thomas has jumped from .16[illegible] to .240. Christian and Byrnes are just looking over .200.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER ETC.

While Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, etc , are troubles which affect the skin their source is far deeper than the outside cuticle These affections are caused by irritating humors, or uratic acid in the blood Such impurities inflame and irritate the delicate net-work of fibrous tissue which lies just beneath the surface of the outer skin, and the inflammatory discharge thus produced is forced out through the pores and glands, and is continually kept up while the blood remains infected This exudation causes the formation of scales and crusts so often seen in Eczema, and when they are scratched off the flesh is left raw and more susceptible to other infection It can very readily be seen then that to produce a cure the circulation must be purified and cleansed This S S S will do It goes down to the very bottom, removes all humors and impurities, neutralizes the excessive acids of the system and in this way removes the cause of disease Local applications can only soothe the irritation and assist in keeping the skin clean, they never produce a cure because such treatment does not reach the blood S S S restores to the thin acrid blood all its lost properties, makes it pure and rich and enables it to nourish the skin and keep it soft, smooth and healthy. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free to all who write.

A Classified Ad. is a Good Collector

If "the world Owes you"--if "Fortune" is somewhat in your debt--if your "good luck" is overdue--let want advertising help you to COLLECT.

A want ad. will turn things "your way"--will sell, at a profit, something you are holding at a loss, will "untie" your "tied-up" investments by finding buyers for whatever you have to sell--will, in short, go out and "collect" what "the world owes you."

CURB IS PUT ON BAGGAGE SMASHER

Kansas Passes Law Compelling Gentle Handling of Trunks and Grips

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 15.—The baggage smashers' days in Kansas are ended. The Kansas Board of Railroad Commissioners issued an order today that the baggagemen must not let a trunk go tumbling down from a car door to the brick or stone station platforms.

It appears that recently the baggage smashers have been more active than formerly, especially in Kansas. The board has had many complaints of trunks being broken or damaged by the drop from the car door to the platforms when the station agents did not want to pull up a truck to receive the baggage on the train. The board told the railroad companies to instruct that the trunks and boxes must be handled as carefully as cases of eggs.

"My opponent's argument," said Senator Dolliver in a recent campaign, "has about as much logic — did you ever hear about the young woman in Fort Dodge? One spring morning she sat on the piazza of her pretty little home sewing a button on her husband's coat. The husband himself appeared and she said fretfully, 'It's a perfect shame the careless way the tailor sewed this button on. This is the fifth time I've had to sew it on again for you'."

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—The directors of the Reading Railway Company today declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the second preferred stock.

SALES OF STOCK IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—There is some very good buying of Amalgamated Copper and the equipment shares on declines now. This buying is not insistent but comes from sources which operate for the long pull. Money prospects are still unsatisfactory. The out-of-town banks continue to draw generously against New York balances and time money is hardening perceptibly. Except for some improvement in the character of buying in the industrial, I see no change. The market is not yet in a safe position. Advances in high priced railroads are founded on manipulation, and this is for the purpose of distribution of stocks. Several lines have already been cleaned up, but some very large concentrated holdings are only partially liquidated. I am of the opinion that the plan is to get away from railroads and prepare for a bull market in industrials. Our next great opportunity will be in the group last named. Scale down buying in Amalgamated Copper, American Car Foundry, American Locomotive, Railway Steel Springs and Pressed Steel Car is all right now.—G.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Stocks started higher than last night, with active dealings in all departments of the list. National Railroads of Mexico advanced 1⅜, Reading 1½, Union Pacific, Pennsylvania and Wabash preferred 1, and Union Pacific preferred, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Western Union and American Cotton Oil large fractions.

Speculation became rather unsettled, some stocks weakening when Union Pacific reacted to below last night and the preferred fell back 1¼. Later on the aggressive bidding up of the trunk line groups and Reading pulled the whole list to the best. The western stocks were bought on the rise. Reading reached a record price of 167, which was 2¾ over yesterday's close. Big Four advanced 3, Southern Pacific 1⅜ and New York Central 1¼.

The strength of New York Central became the feature of the market, that stock rising 2½ on large dealings. There were a number of 1 point gains in important stocks, but the previous gains were not extended.

Reading was taken in hand again and marked up to 167¾, which put a stop to the realizing.

All important stocks got another point higher, particularly Union Pacific and Reading. The more noticeable advances were in the specialties. A wide variety of stocks were traded in and the absorption of United State Steel was especially large. About 2 o'clock profit taking began in Union Pacific, which went off over a point, and the general list sagged with it.

The market closed buoyant and active. A rise in United States Steel to 81⅝ was the foremost transaction. There were several belated advances elsewhere, but traders were inclined to realize on the sustained strength of the Steel movement. St. Paul advanced 2, St. Louis & Southwestern preferred 2¼, Rock Island and preferred 3, American Sugar 4 and Great Northern Ore Certificates 1⅜. Western Union dropped 2.

Bonds were irregular at noon.

WHEAT MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO GRAIN MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Wheat—Steady; no trading; cash, $1.70@1.75.

Barley—Steady; December, $1.41@1.41½; cash, $1.35@1.38¾.

Corn—Steady; large yellow, $1.70@1.75.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The Inter-Ocean says: James A. Patten was back from Minneapolis yesterday and his house was the largest buyer of wheat. The pit element figured that they bought over 1,000,000 bushels, and Patten was quoted as saying that he had covered his wheat here and at Minneapolis, which was the chief cause for the advance of nearly 2 cents in December. On the bulge the Patten house sold about half as much as they had bought early. Patten was not given to talking much yesterday. He said that the northwest had a big crop, that the farmers are not rushing it into the market, as the holding tendency everywhere is stronger than usual. Patten's buying gave the Armour house an opportunity to sell 2,000,000 bushels, mostly December, and to get out of a big line of September.

A corn specialist, who was very bearish, said that if present prices held, there will be fifty million bushels of new and old corn sold by the farmers in Illinois alone in the next sixty days. He believed that prices are to work considerably lower and there were a number of traders last night who agreed with this theory. One operator, who is considered to be a sharp observer of conditions in the corn pit, said that ten local traders had covered 100,000 bushels each yesterday, to say nothing of the numerous small shorts who came in because of the bulge in wheat. People with country connections said there were numerous buying orders for May at 61⅜c by country speculators and that at 62c they were free sellers. Those who were bullish last night advanced the theory that there will be plenty of resting orders to buy May corn on all breaks under 62.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—There was strength in the wheat market here today following a weak tone at the start, the distant deliveries displaying especial firmness. The September option was neglected and showed little tendency to follow the upturn in other months. Initial quotations were 1⅛@¼c to ½c lower at 98⅜@98½c. After touching 98⅜c, the price of December advanced to 99⅛c.

The market became weak during the last half of the day owing to liberal sales of the September option by cash interests. December declined to 98c. The close was weak, with December off ½c at 98⅛@98¼c.

The slump in wheat had a weakening effect on the corn market at the start, but a firmer tone was soon developed. December opened ⅛@¼c lower at 59@60c and advanced to 60⅛c.

The corn market continued firm the remainder of the day. The high point for December was 60½c. The close was firm, with December up ⅛c at 60¼c.

Oats made little response to the upturn in wheat and corn, the market being about steady during the early part of the day. December opened unchanged at 39⅜c and sold to 39⅝c.

Liquidation of the January products caused weakness in the provision market. Prices at the opening were 2½@20c lower.

The closing quotations were as follows:

Wheat—September, $1.02¼; December, 98¼@98½c; May, $1.01½@1.01⅝.

Corn—September, 67¼c; December, 60¼c; May, 62⅛c.

Oats—September, 40c; December, 39⅜@39⅝c; May, 42⅛c.

Pork—September, $23.75 bid, $23.90 asked; January, $18.92½; May, $17.62½.

'The Climax,' Gem of Theatrical Season, Is Coming to Oakland

MISS RUBY BRIDGES with "The Climax" Coming to the Macdonough Theater

Whatever profit accrues to the production of The Climax and it is said that its sponsor has a vast fortune in sight Joseph M. Weber deserves every penny of it. But for the absolute urging of his convictions and his unwavering tenacity of purpose in the face of divers opinions this delightful little play might by this time be mouldering in the desk of an unknown playwright.

Weber liked The Climax from the very first. Although essentially a dealer in musical entertainment he was led to forsake the dingy in presenting this three act drama that employs but a single set and four players and is essentially a sound business man he is just as quietly applauded the commendable advantages of such an enterprise. It is on ... it happened to succeed.

GIVES IT TRIAL

From Edward W. Locke the author he purchased the production rights and set out to try the piece on trial One Sunday night in his theater before an audience of ... friends of managers, players dramatists and ... friends supposed to be in touch with the needs of the theater going public. The Climax was presented at ... performance. The stage setting was crude, the players ... properly two of the players were grossly miscast and the general condition of the performance suggested gloom. After the third curtain one after another of that specially invited audience sought out Weber and begged him to forget it. They shook their heads sadly as the little manager made every objection smilingly. I think it's there and I'm going to try it out of ... Accordingly he booked it for three weeks in Canada and Central New York.

A GREAT SUCCESS

What followed is a theatrical history ... regular audiences ...

he actual receipts were $6...—at Weber's theater one afternoon about eight months ago every dramatic critic in the city declared that the play was one of the gems of the season. Two of them ... than The Music Master. Another wrote that The Climax will prove to be another Old ... instead. The critic of the Evening Sun attended three performances during the first week and the following Monday ... a box party of prominent stars ... of ... the play with him. Charles ... cabled from London for the English rights. J. C. Williamson through his New York representative entered a bid for the Australian rights. The firm of M. Whitmark & Sons obtained an option on the rights in Germany. David Belasco witnessed a performance and congratulated Weber during each intermission and again after the last curtain.

COMING TO OAKLAND

The Climax will make its first bow to the local theater goers at the Macdonough theater beginning next Sunday matinee. The company that will be seen here comes direct from Weber's theater New York and includes such well known Broadway favorites as Ruby Bridges, Walter Wilson, Edwin August and Albert ...

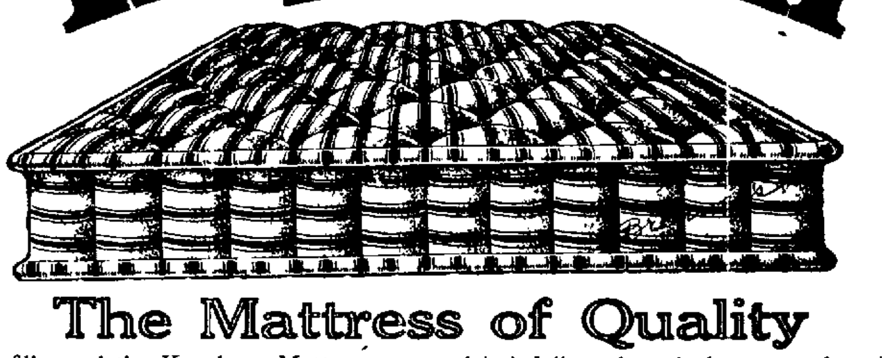

What a happy and industrious world this would be if every man got a good night's rest!

I wish you knew what it means to sleep on a soft, restful Kapokeen!

One minute after retiring at night and you are floating, floating floating along through space, floating along on a cloud of contentment into the land of nod—and then all is blank There is no time for dreams when you sleep on a Kapokeen It seems like a few short minutes and morning is here And when you arise there is a feeling of cheerfulness and animation that makes you meet the world with a smile A good day's work comes from a good night's sleep on a pure vegetable fibre mattress That mattress is the

Kapokeen

TRADE MARK

The Mattress of Quality

The filling of the Kapokeen Mattress is a pure vegetable fibre—a soft silky substance which nature uses as a covering for the seeds of certain trees that grow in Java After being gathered from the trees this fibre is spread out in the hot sun until thoroughly dried, and is then imported by us to California Here it is put through our own patent curing process, which effectually removes the natural vegetable oils and all impurities The fibre is then enclosed in strong, handsome "art" ticking, making a mattress SIX INCHES THICK, delightfully soft and elastic, and so light and buoyant that it will support in water thirty times its own weight.

A Kapokeen Mattress is positively vermin proof and non-absorbent—all moisture being evaporated and quickly thrown off The fibre NEVER DECAYS and excells cotton or felt from the fact that it can be made over Properly cared for a Kapokeen Mattress will last a lifetime An occasional sun bath will renew its vitality, puffing up the fibre like new.

EAGLES TO COME TO COAST IN 1910

San Francisco Delegates Make Deal That Will Win Next Meeting

OMAHA Neb Sept 15—It looks as if San Francisco has a lead-pipe cinch on the national convention of the Eagles for next year While the vote will not be taken until Thursday nearly everybody is willing to concede that the coast city has won

San Francisco is winning because her delegates are playing good politics J S Parry came here as a candidate for worthy grand vice-president and the delegates came determined to have a pledge that the convention would be given to them When they arrived they found that Senator Grady of New York was a strong candidate and that St Louis and a half a dozen other cities were in a contest for next year's convention

COMBINE WITH GRADY.

Past Grand Worthy President Bell started working and yesterday the results of his labors were announced He had succeeded in pulling Parry out of the race, the understanding being that the coast delegates would go to Grady In return for this Grady's strength is to go to San Francisco for the 1910 convention

There is a scurrying among the friends of the other cities, and all kinds of combinations are talked of yet it is admitted that there can be none strong enough to interfere with the deal between the Parry and Grady delegates The best of feeling prevails and the friends of the other cities say they have been outgeneraled

The police have had the problem handed to them for solution but as yet their suspicions have not alighted on anyone
